IMRAN'S AIDES START DESERTING HIM, BLAME VIOLENCE BY PTI SUPPORTERS

Top aide Fawad Chaudhry the latest to resign from the Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party, a day after ex-minister Shireen Mazari called its quits

THEY WERE FORCED TO QUIT AT GUNPOINT: IMRAN

At least two dozen leaders have left Imran's party in the aftermath of the May 9 attacks on the Pakistan Army headquarters in Rawalpindi, the Lahore Corps Commander's house, and other military installations. Though the leaders have blamed vandalism for their decisions to leave, Imran alleged they were forced to quit at gunpoint | P12

GOVT MULLING BAN ON PARTY, SAYS MINISTER

- The former human rights minister Mazari was arrested four times since May 12 on charges on inciting vandalism. She announced her resignation hours after being released from jail on Tuesday
- Meanwhile, Pakistan's defence minister Khawaja Asif claimed the government is mulling a possible ban on the former cricketer's party

Priyank: We'll revise or withdraw BJP's orders, legislation

Says hijab ban, textbook revision, anti-cow slaughter, anti-conversion laws on radar

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

MINISTER Priyank Kharge on Wednesday said the new Congress government would either revise or withdraw orders, legislation and policies which went against the interests of the state under the previous BJP government, including cow slaughter, school textbook revision and anti-conversion.

He said all the policies will be reviewed with an economic and progressive perspective, including revoking the ban on hijab in educational institutions, which affected the education of several Muslim girls who dropped out of colleges as a result. The government's priority is the education sector, he said, adding that even the deleted portions of history in the school syllabus would be put back into the textbooks after reviewing.

"On the anti-cow slaughter law, the finance department itself had said that the Bill was not worth it and was going to create problems for the industry, and more importantly, that it would cost the exchequer a huge amount of money," said Kharge, who was among the eight ministers inducted into the Chief Minister Siddaramaiah-led cabinet at the swearing-in ceremony on Saturday.

"We will relook at every policy matter that the previous government has brought in," he told reporters. "All those Bills (laws) and orders that hamper the economic progress of Karnataka, its prosperity, and will affect Kannadigas, will be withdrawn. Making Karnataka once again the number one state is our intention, and we will take steps in that direction." He said a lot of executive orders that the BJP government had passed and which were against the transparency act "as they have tried to favour certain people, will also be reviewed, not in the interest of Congress but in the interest of the state." Oppn to boycott Parliament inauguration

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

IN their latest showdown with the Centre, at least 19 Opposition parties have decided to boycott the inauguration of the new Parliament by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on May 28. Terming the decision as most unfortunate, Parliamentary Affairs Minister Pralhad Joshi appealed to them to reconsider it.

In a joint statement, 19 parties, including Congress, Trinamool and AAP, said, "When the soul of democracy has been sucked out from the Parliament, we find no value in a new building. We announce our collective decision to boycott the inauguration of the new Parliament building."

The letter said Modi's decision to inaugurate the new building by himself, completely sidelining President Droupadi Murmu, is a grave insult and direct assault on democracy, which demands a commensurate response.

Several parties, including Congress and Trinamool have been critical of the government for scheduling the ceremony to coincide with the birth anniversary of Hindutva ideologue V D Savarkar on May 28. They also pointed out that the appropriate procedure was for Murmu to do the honours, as the PM is the head of the executive, not the legislature. The letter went on to allege "that this undignified act insults the high office of the President, and violates the letter and spirit of the Constitution."

The other signatories to the letter are DMK, JD (U), NCP, Shiv Sena (UBT), CPI(M), SP, RJD, CPI, IUML, JMM, NC, KC(M), RSP, VCK, MDMK and RLD. Though Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) is not a signatory, the party said it would not take part in the event.

However, BJD, SAD and YSR Congress will take part in the ceremony.

The govt has extended invitation to all parties. They will respond as per their wisdom

PRIDE OF PLACE FOR TN'S TRYST WITH HISTORY

T MURUGANANDHAM @ Chennai

ON May 28, when the new Parliament House is dedicated to the nation, a gold-plated silver staff from a forgotten past will emerge as a new symbol for India in its full imperial glory. Prime Minister Narendra Modi will receive the sacred Sengol (sceptre) that symbolises fair and equitable governance and install it near the Lok Sabha Speaker's podium.

The Sengol, originally presented by Thiruvavaduthurai Adheenam of Tamil Nadu to the first Prime Minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru at his house, on August 14, on the eve of independence, represents the ultimate transfer of power from the British. The ornamented staff will be brought to New Delhi from a museum in Allahabad, where it has been safely kept, and will be installed in parliament.

Shedding light on this symbol of power, Home Minister Amit Shah told reporters in Delhi on Wednesday, that even after 75 years of independence, most people are unaware of this event in which India's transfer of power took place through the handing over of the Sengol to Nehru, a ritual followed by kings in TN while ascending the throne. He said Modi has decided to adopt the Sengol as a national symbol of 'Amrit Kaal'.

Call to name Rahul as Cong's PM candidate

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

THE much-contested question of the prime ministerial face of the Opposition in 2024 was back to the fore on Wednesday as senior Congress MP Manickam Tagore urged his party to announce Rahul Gandhi as its PM candidate.

Often, most Opposition leaders evade the 'Modi versus who' question and maintain that a PM face will emerge only after the elections. Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, who is spearheading the efforts to stitch up an anti-BJP front, has been meeting leaders of several Opposition parties in the past few months.

Citing a survey, Tagore, the whip of the Congress in the Lok Sabha said, "Hope my colleagues in @INCIndia will accept that without our announcement or projection 27% of people want our leader as PM candidate. Let's announce it then see the support." Tagore is a known Rahul loyalist.

The survey showed Narendra Modi as the frontrunner for the PM's post with 43% votes. Other Opposition PM aspirants like Mamata Banerjee and Arvind Kejriwal were way behind Rahul with 4% votes while Nitish Kumar polled just 1%.

PM flags attack on temples at bilateral meet

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday shared his concern with his Australian counterpart Anthony Albanese over the spate of attacks on temples and the proliferation of pro-Khalistan elements in Australia, at the business end of his visit to Sydney.

"We will not accept any elements that harm the friendly and warm ties between India and Australia by their actions or thoughts... Albanese once again assured me today that he will take strict action against such elements," Modi said after their bilateral talks.

Later responding to a question on the activities of the pro-Khalistani elements in her country, Foreign Minister Penny Wong said Australia is a multicultural democracy and that there is no space for hatred and violence.

The talks focused on cooperation in green hydrogen, defence and security, trade and investment, new and renewable energy, critical minerals, education, complementarities and competencies of the two economies and people to people ties.

Australia's consulate office in Bengaluru soon

The Australian High Commission is all set to establish its consulate office in Bengaluru. Australian PM Anthony Albanese said the consulate office will be opened in the city by May end. It will be the fifth Australian diplomatic office in India. On Tuesday, PM Modi said that India will set up its consulate office in Brisbane soon.

Both sides signed the Terms of Reference of the Australia-India Green Hydrogen Taskforce and an agreement on migration and mobility.

"In our bilaterals we reiterated our shared ambition for an early conclusion of the Australia-India Comprehensive Economic Cooperation Agreement later this year. Prime Minister Modi and I are pleased to have just witnessed the exchange of the Australia-India Migration and Mobility Partnership Agreement. This arrangement will promote the exchange of students, graduates, researchers and business people; expand our people-to-people ties and enhance cooperation in preventing people smuggling," Albanese said.

The PM extended an invite to Albanese to attend the G20 Summit in September as also the cricket World Cup. He said visiting Australians would also get to witness Diwali celebrations around that time of the year.

"In the language of cricket, our ties have reached the T20 mode," Modi said, recalling that this was their sixth meeting in a year, which indicated the maturity of the relationship.

Cow traps to avoid underpass flooding?

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

Here is a simple solution to avoid flooding of underpasses — install cow traps (rainwater diverters).

These cow traps at underpasses will help divert rainwater to stormwater drains, according to Vijay Raj Sisodiya, who has implemented two underpass projects for BBMP and has 22 years of experience in water conservation.

Cow traps are made of flat steel bars with spaces between them and installed atop the small drains built at underpasses. They are connected to regular stormwater drains.

A recipient of two international awards and six national awards for RWH and water conservation, Sisodiya told The New Indian Express, "The KR Circle underpass flooding could have been avoided if cow traps were installed there. We only had 30 mm rain on Monday. Imagine what would have happened if the city had received 180 mm like last year. We have these cow traps at the centre of some underpasses in Bengaluru now. Whenever an underpass gets flooded, water is pumped into the SWD at an elevation, making it a problematic affair." P2

No 'power bhagya', man attacks Gescom staffer

AMIT S UPADHYE @ Koppal

A Gescom employee was beaten up by a man at Kukanapalli village in Koppal district on Tuesday.

R Manjunatha, the bill collector, had gone to the village to issue electricity bills when the accused, Chandrashekar Hiremath, who had not cleared his pending bills, attacked him.

The Munirabad police apprehended Hiremath after the incident. Several cases have been registered against the accused.

According to eye witnesses, Hiremath abused and assaulted Manjunatha and threw slippers at him when he was asked to clear his pending bills. He also tried to attack another Gescom employee, who was recording the incident on his cellphone.

It is said that Hiremath called the Gescom office a day after his electricity connection was disconnected for not clearing bills amounting to Rs 9,000. It is learnt that Hiremath took the electricity connection illegally six months ago. The accused demanded that he needs time to clear the bills and he will do so only after the state government implements its guarantee of providing 200 units of free electricity, according to eye witnesses. There have been many such cases of people refusing to pay bills and abusing bill collectors after the announcement of 200 units of free electricity.

Social media is agog with messages asking people not to pay their electricity bills. The delay in implementation of the guarantee by the state government is only making things worse for bill collectors.

"Many bill collectors in Ballari and Koppal divisions have applied for leave because of harassment by consumers," said a Gescom staffer.

World's costliest mango has a price tag of ₹40,000 a piece

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Koppal

WORLD'S costliest mango, Miyazaki, is now on display at a mela in Koppal.

With each fruit priced at a whopping Rs 40,000 (Rs 2.5 lakh per kg), the Horticulture Department is planning to popularise its cultivation in Koppal district.Horticulture officials brought only one Miyazaki mango from Madhya Pradesh for display at the mela. This variety is widely grown in Japan.

Hundreds of farmers have been thronging the mela to have a glimpse of Miyazaki, since its inauguration on May 23.

The mela will continue till May 31. Many farmers were seen clicking selfies and pictures of this expensive mango. The pictures of red Miyazaki have gone viral after the mela began.

Other popular varieties such as Koppal Kesar, Benshan, Dasheri, Swarnarekha, Alphonso, Totapuri, Rasamari, Punari and Mallika are on display. In all, 51 farmers have put up stalls to sell mangoes at this mela.

Ramakrishna Bevinakatti, a juice shop owner from Gadag district who visited the mela, said, "It is amazing to see a mango which costs Rs 40,000 per fruit. The horticultural officials at the mela stated that Miyazaki costs Rs 2.50 lakh per kg. When we asked an official who will eat this mango after the mela, he just laughed, stating that they have only one!"

Deputy Director of Horticulture Krishna Ukkund said, "We have plans to popularise Miyazaki cultivation in Koppal district. The department will guide farmers to grow this variety in their farms."

• 200-ft rajakaluve was reduced to 10 ft in KR Puram • Furniture godown razed, encroachers told to vacate
• Girinath says Rs 5 lakh has been allocated to each ward to prevent rain damage

BBMP TO TURN BULLDOZERS ON SWD ENCROACHMENTS

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

BRUHAT Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), which had put its storm water drain encroachment drive on hold, resumed it on Wednesday, razing a furniture godown in Hoysala Nagar of KR Puram assembly in Mahadevapura zone. The drive will intensify from Thursday, and police protection will be sought for a smooth operation, said officials.

M Lokesh, chief engineer, Mahadevapura zone, said encroachments on the rajakaluve were noticed on survey number 91, 92, 93, 94, 104, 105 and 106 of Horamavu village in KR Puram. Notice was served on January 27 seeking clearance of the encroachments.

As some of the owners had gone to court seeking a stay, the matter came up before the tahsildar for resurvey, and orders were passed for clearing obstructions.

The Revenue department, under provisions of Section 104 of the Karnataka Land Revenue Act and Disaster Management Act 2005, asked BBMP to take necessary steps in removing encroachment of rajakaluves.

A BBMP excavator demolishes a building that was built on a stormwater drain at Hoysala Nagar in KR Puram on Wednesday | EXPRESS

"The rajakaluve is 200 feet wide, but was reduced to 10 feet. We are now in the process of restoring the canal as per original sketches mentioned in the revenue department maps. In all, 36 buildings have come up on the rajakaluve illegally. Court giving any stay now does not arise," said Lokesh.

The officials said sufficient time was given to owners to vacate, and on Wednesday, the furniture godown was razed and encroachers were again reminded to vacate. While BBMP demolished the godown, some residents whose properties have been marked are anxious, and tried to convince BBMP to explore 'other' options.

"We are bound to do our duty and stick to rules. To prevent future flooding, illegal buildings need to be removed," said Syed Rehman, executive engineer, KR Puram.

"I moved here 10 years ago and have no clue about the rajakaluve. All my earnings and savings have gone into building the house, and now BBMP is telling me to vacate. I have been paying taxes for the past 10 years. I will request BBMP to explore other options," said Devaraj, a resident of Hoysala Nagar.

Rs 5 lakh for each ward

After a meeting with CM Siddaramaiah to review monsoon preparedness, Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath said Rs 5 lakh has been allocated to each ward to prevent rain damage.

He said there is already a control room for rain emergency management. He also stressed that the remaining fallen trees and branches will be cleared. Due to the rain, 98 houses were inundated, however, no property was destroyed, and the situation is under control. "If a property is destroyed, we will give Rs 10,000, like last time," said Girinath.

Empty buttermilk sachets discarded at Sree Kanteerava Stadium during the swearing-in of the chief minister

It's common sense to have civic sense, say experts

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

WITH Bengaluru seeing flooding year after year, civic activists and solid waste management experts, apart from blaming BBMP for poor design and unscientific projects, opine that citizens also lack "civic sense". They say waste littered by citizens during heavy rains gets carried into nearby drains, chokes them and eventually floods the area and add that citizens fail to realise the magnitude of this and take this with a callous attitude.

"Blaming the government squarely for all the flooding in the city is not acceptable. Citizens should also have some responsibility. It is their duty not to litter and hand over waste only to pourakarmikas. Further, they should ensure that the drains next to their homes are cleaned regularly," opined V Ram Prasad, a solid waste management expert. Citizens should pull up their socks and be responsible citizens first before blaming the government, he said.

When we travel on the road or head to a park or a tourist spot, we see many who throw away plastic bottles, tetra packs, chips wrappers, covers, papers etc. During the recent swearing-in ceremony of the new government, we found thousands of buttermilk covers littered all over. When it rains heavily, littered trash will find its way into the nearby shoulder drains, and stormwater drains reduce the carrying capacity and over a period of time will result in a flood in some areas, Ram Prasad elaborated. "Citizens fail to realise that their small act of littering can wreak havoc by flooding," he said.

DS Rajashekar, president, Bengaluru Praja Vedike, said that the flooding in the city is primarily because of poor planning but added that citizens' act of dumping wastes cannot be undermined.

He demanded that citizens cultivate the habit of segregating the garbage and hand it over to the pourakarmikas.

Increase public transport share to 70%, forum to govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Bus Prayanikara Vedike (BBPV), a bus commuters' forum, has urged the Congress-led State Government to keep up its promise of increasing the share of public transport to 70% and that it keep this goal in mind while coming up with mobility and infrastructure-related projects. They have also urged the government to extend free bus travel in government buses to transgenders, increase the fleet of BMTC and improve last-mile connectivity.

In their letter dated May 24, BBPV said, "One of the significant commitments in the Congress manifesto is that of increasing the share of public transport to 70%. We urge the government to keep this goal at the centre of all mobility and infrastructure plans for the city. This will also be an important milestone against which to measure the government's performance on completion of its term."

The forum also demanded that the cost of free travel is completely reimbursed to all 4 road transport corporations.

"While the city's population has grown to 1.3 crore and the private vehicles over 1 crore, the bus fleet has hovered around 6,000 for over a decade. The hiring freeze has led to a situation where BMTC is unable to operate even this limited fleet fully. Congress' manifesto promise of expanding the BMTC fleet to 10,000 in 5 years is too slow to accommodate the unmet demand and the required growth and we urge the government to lift the hiring freeze urgently and expand the fleet to 10,000 in a 2-3 years window" the letter read.

They also insisted that the government consider the introduction of mini-buses in areas with narrow roads to provide first and last-mile connectivity, and short-loop/feeder services in neighbourhoods further from main roads.

The vedike welcomed the government's promise of proposing e-rickshaws for first- and last-mile connectivity and demanded that they must be planned with the consultation of auto drivers and the public.

Among the other demands, the vedike urged that the bus priority lanes be extended to all high-traffic corridors.

'Cow traps soon at KR Circle underpass'

Sisodiya, who runs a rainwater harvesting research centre on six acres of land at Chikkamagaluru and is the director of Farmland RWH Systems headquartered there, said, "Our firm with 40 engineers installed injection wells at the underpasses at JP Nagar (Main Road) and Basavanagudi (Tagore underpass) in 2019. We maintained the two underpasses for a few years. No water-logging takes place at both places now. We have also installed cow traps at an underpass in Haveri district which stopped water-logging. The local administration and the Railways have built many such underpasses in Haveri district."

Injection wells and cow traps should have been built at 10 underpasses in Bengaluru, following the success of pilot projects. "We did not go ahead with the plan. Non-payment of bills amounting to Rs 7 lakh by BBMP forced us to give it up," he said.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath concurred with this approach. "We have already started work at KR Circle underpass. We are building humps now and will install cow traps there."

Clear city roads of uprooted trees, branches, Girinath tells officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@BENGALURU

FOLLOWING rain and gusty winds in the past four days, 255 trees and over 1,050 branches have fallen. Officials briefed BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath about steps taken during his inspection on Wednesday. He directed officials to clear the remaining branches as soon as possible.

Girinath inspected the clearing of trees and branches that had fallen in Rajajinagar assembly constituency of West Zone. "Till now, a total of 255 trees and about 1,050 branches that had fallen in the past five days, have already been cleared. The remaining branches will be cleared soon," said Girinath.

Later, he visited Arekere and RBI Layout in Bommanahalli constituency, and instructed private personnel to clear the branches lying on the road as soon as possible, so there is no obstruction to vehicular traffic, and no danger to life.

UNDER-graduate classes are set to open from July 17, as per the 2023-24 calendar of events released on Wednesday.

The Karnataka State Higher Education Council (KSHEC) released the undergraduate calendar of events for the coming academic year 2023-24. The calendar applies to all universities, and aided and unaided colleges functioning under the Department of Higher Education. According to KSHEC, the calendar must be implemented by all the colleges and universities effective immediately, excluding technical education institutions.

"The National Education Policy mandates that classes and examinations be held on time and results declared for students. Apart from this, scholarship programmes are being implemented by various departments and the government should issue an educational schedule to suit the students as it has to be utilised by them," the order stated. According to the calendar, first semester classes will begin from July 17 onwards. The last date for admissions in on July 15, and with a penal fee on July 31.

25TH May : Thursday is special to the planet Jupiter. That much all astrologers agree on. But what does it mean? Well, Jupiter is an optimistic planet, so babies born today tend to believe that the world is a positive place. Their belief in themselves works wonders!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20) – The financial situation is looking reasonably sound, but there is an increasing chance of some sort of minor blunder. Be warned that if a financial gamble should go wrong today, you may not have enough time to do anything about it. And that must give you sufficient reason to consult the experts.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) – Everyone experiences a moment when they have to let go and live life to the full. With the Moon now so strong, this looks very much like your time to wave farewell to the past and go your own way. Plus, an unusual invitation could make you wonder about a partner's motives.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) – You must take all necessary actions to safeguard your long-term happiness and financial security. It is simply not good enough to rely on other people to bail you out, especially not if you have been rather free and easy with your feelings. You might soon have to pay the price for a former promise!

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) – An emotional problem should be solved before long, to sighs of relief all round. And if you are unsure about someone else's motives, why not allow them the benefit of the doubt? Plus, please try to focus on overdue practical tasks, and do your best to get up to speed.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) – There's a risk that the approaching lunar revolution will put you on the spot at work. The way to avoid confrontation is to recognise that some of your objections are based in your own past, and may therefore be nothing at all to do with current circumstances.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) – You might feel a little bruised and even slightly battered, but you should now raise your sights and concentrate on the moral and ethical implications. The first rule is that two wrongs don't make a right, and that you must do your best whatever the circumstances.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) – What has transpired recently has made you aware that it is sometimes no use doing things in a charming, gentle manner. You may have become weary of being so considerate, and nobody will blame you if you have a go at somebody. But keep your eye on the eventual goal, which is that everyone agrees to get on!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) – You're in a super-sensitive mood. You may have to pay very close attention indeed to other people's emotional whims and desires, even if they are being decidedly awkward. Perhaps you should have another go at explaining yourself, and do so more effectively this time!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) – Even people who have been keeping things from you will soon relent and reveal all. You may help yourself by paying extra-special attention to purely routine affairs. These, after all, are the key to understanding and, hence controlling, every situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) – People at work, chiefly those in command rather than under your control, are still likely to be making life difficult. You, for your part, must insist that your special talents are recognised and respected. It might be wisest to set a good example and let your achievements speak for themselves.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) – Chance encounters or surprise developments will lead to a more fulfilling lifestyle, and about time, too! Home and family affairs must be handled with care, by the way, partly because somebody may still be seething with anger about some-thing that happened a long time ago. You need to be sensitive to such issues, as I'm sure you know.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20) – You should be able to negotiate from a position of strength, partly because you'll be able to take people by surprise. It is quite amazing just how forthright you can be when you know what you want to say. What's more, you're capable of taking some wonderfully businesslike decisions.

Kaup police have booked four men for performing stunts in their cars between Moodabettu-Moolur on NH 66. The video of the same has gone viral on social media. Ayaan (24) of Udyavara, Mishalvuddin (23) of Kunjibettu, Shanoon D'Souza (25) and Vivek (23) both of Udupi were booked by the police.

IF REINSTATED...

Worker entitled to EL even for dismissed period

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

HOLDING that benefits would include earned leave (EL) and encashment of EL for the dismissed period when an employee is reinstated with directions to provide the same, the Karnataka High Court said he/she need not be on duty to claim EL if reinstatement is ordered, while dismissal is adjudged invalid or illegal.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj passed the order recently, while dismissing the petition filed by the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC) against the order passed by the Labour Court to provide consequential benefits while reinstating A Gangaiah, a workman.

At the same time, the court allowed another petition filed by another workman, V Nagaraju, questioning the rejection of benefits by the KSRTC.

Directing KSRTC to pay for encashment of EL during the period of dismissal, the court observed that KSRTC cannot entitle a workman to earned leave during his dismissal, and not allow him to encash it. "The distinction sought to be devised by KSRTC appears to be artificial. Once the workman is entitled to EL, encashment or otherwise is only a matter of form and not substance. The entitlement is determined by the rights of the parties," the court observed.

The court also noted that despite the Labour Court order, endorsements dated March 22, 2019, and May 22, 2019, have been issued, rejecting encashment by KSRTC. State Road Transport Corporation Employees Leave Rule 35 indicates that when an employee is dismissed or removed from service, and reinstated in an appeal or revision, he is entitled to his former service leave, the court had said while quashing the endorsements. The RTC has now calculated EL for the workman. The Labour Court, in proceedings under Section 33C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, has come to a conclusion that whenever there is a reinstatement with continuity of service, the workman will be entitled to the benefit of EL.

Counsel for KSRTC submitted that EL meant "leave earned only during the period spent on duty, and therefore in the dismissed period, no EL would be applicable".

Man dies after falling from third floor, parents blame police

Bengaluru: In an alleged bid to escape the police, a 31-year-old man died after he jumped from the third floor of a building in Bommanahalli on Wednesday. However, his parents have alleged that the police pushed him in the melee to catch him. Police said there was a complaint against the deceased, Mohammed Hussain, a resident of Begur Road, for allegedly creating public nuisance. When a team of four policemen went to Hussain's home around 4pm to enquire, he tried to escape and fell to death. But his parents allege the police took him into custody and assaulted him in the corridor from where he fell.

Three police staffers caught red-handed while accepting bribe

Bengaluru: The Lokayukta police arrested three police staffers including a woman police sub-inspector attached to Women's Police Station, East Division, after they were caught red-handed accepting a bribe. WPSI Savitha Kanamadi, woman police constable Shobha Talwar and head constable Somashekar were arrested while another head constable Girish is absconding. Lokayukta police said a person had filed a complaint stating that his brother was booked in a dowry and domestic violence case by the police, and the court had granted him anticipatory bail, to issue which the accused demanded Rs 20,000. "The complainant paid Rs 10,000 on Tuesday and filed a complaint with the Lokayukta police, following which a trap was laid on Wednesday and the accused were caught red-handed accepting Rs. 5,000 from the complainant," an officer said.

Congenital hypothyroidism stalls baby's growth

The treatment process for hypothyroidism is simple if intervened early. Parents must ensure their newborns undergo a thyroid stimulating hormone test within three weeks of birth.

Dr Rajath A, Sakra World Hospital

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

A 21-month-old baby girl from Tamil Nadu displayed no signs of growth and had the same height and weight since she was nine months old.

Dr Rajath Athreya, HOD (Paediatrics and Neonatology), Sakra World Hospital, attended to the patient for the first time on March 18, and diagnosed it as congenital hypothyroidism, a rare condition seen once in 800 cases, caused due to inactive thyroid gland.

Thyroid hormone is essential for proper functioning and development of the body. The first three years of a child are crucial in terms of physical and mental growth, which may be inhibited if the baby suffers from slow metabolism, insufficient growth, malnutrition, cognitive difficulty and issues in learning ability, causing long-term impact.

Babies with this defect appear healthy at birth and show no difference in appearance, in contrast to others with a normally functioning thyroid gland. The mother was unaware of the condition until she visited the hospital after missing out on the initial screenings.

Dr Rajath said there needs to be more awareness among young parents to screen their newborns for thyroid. Early intervention ensures the baby's growth is not severely affected in the most crucial initial three years.

The doctor said the treatment process for hypothyroidism is simple if intervened early. Parents must ensure their newborns undergo a thyroid stimulating hormone (TSH) test within three weeks of birth. Affordable basic medicines for thyroid are prescribed to the infant. If not intervened early on, it becomes difficult and expensive to treat.

The baby is under regular medication and has been responding well to treatment. Over the course of three months, the baby has shown positive physical growth as well, Dr Rajath added.

SIDDU, DKS IN DELHI TO DISCUSS CABINET EXPANSION, PORTFOLIOS

20 ministers could be inducted, swearing-in in a day or two; DyCM wants water resources

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

AFTER the fight for the chief minister's post, there seems to be a tug-of-war between Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar over ministerial berths for their loyalists.

The leaders are likely to get the party high command nod to induct 20 more MLAs into the cabinet, which has eight ministers already, and the swearing-in could be held in a couple of days, party sources said. The portfolio allocation too could happen soon. This was indicated by Siddarmaiah during the Assembly session on Wednesday after former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai chided him over the delay.

On Wednesday, Shivakumar reached Delhi well ahead of Siddaramaiah. He and his brother DK Suresh, Bengaluru Rural MP, held talks with AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge for about 45 minutes before Siddaramaiah landed in New Delhi. Shivakumar, who wants a plum portfolio like water resources for himself, also sought another portfolio. Both Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar will hold talks with AICC leaders on Thursday.

"Whether it is Shivakumar or any other leader, there will be just one plum portfolio for each minister," a leader told TNIE. His bete noire within the party MB Patil is also eyeing the same portfolios Shivakumar is seeking and the former may have to settle for the home portfolio, which he had held earlier.

For the revenue ministry, there is a stiff fight between former union minister and Devanahalli MLA KH Muniyappa and former deputy chief minister Dr G Parameshwara. But Parameshwara may be asked to take up the medium and large industries portfolio, the sources added.

Chamarajpet MLA and former minister Zameer Ahmed Khan is expecting the housing portfolio as he feels it has the scope to help the needy people. Siddaramaiah had assured him of this portfolio and the government is planning to construct around 15,000 houses for the poor in five years.

Former minister TB Jayachandra, the only Kunchitiga-Vokkaliga leader in the Assembly, has also reached New Delhi. Other strong contenders for ministerial berths are Veerashaiva-Lingayat leaders like Dr Sharanaprakasha Patil, Laxman Savadi, Laxmi Hebbalkar, Eshwar Khandre, Shivananda Patil, SS Mallikarjun, Vinay Kulakarni, GS Patil and Basavaraj Rayareddy. Senior leaders HK Patil, RV Deshpande, Dinesh Gundurao and ST leaders KN Rajanna, Nagendra and Tukaram, former minister Santhosh Lad, Kuruba community leaders Byrathi Suresh and Raghavendra Hitnal are also in the race. Hiriyur MLA D Sudhakar, only MLA from the Jain community, and former chief minister Dharam Singh's son Dr Ajay Singh are among the aspirants.

As lobbying hots up in Dharwad dist, Shettar may have last laugh

Supporters of MLA Prasad Abbayya take out a procession in Hubballi on Wednesday, seeking a ministerial berth for him | DHEMANTH

PRAMODKUMAR VAIDYA @Hubballi

WHILE veteran Congress MLAs from Dharwad district are lobbying hard for a ministerial berth in the Siddaramaiah cabinet, there is a likelihood of a new entrant from BJP, Jagadish Shettar, making the cut from the district despite his bitter loss in the Assembly polls. But that could cause some serious heartburn among other contenders and could lead to friction within the party.

The political calculation of the Congress high command behind keeping the tall Lingayat leader in good humour is to curry favour with the community for the next year's general election, particularly in the North Karnataka Region.

Sources said with the entry of Shettar and another Lingayat leader from BJP Laxman Savadi, Congress has benefited a lot in the region and giving them a good position in the government, or party, is almost certain.

Shettar might have lost the Hubballi-Dharwad Central seat, which he had held for almost three decades, but the party wants to exploit his experience in the Lok Sabha elections and his administration acumen in governance. Shettar could be made an MLC and inducted into the cabinet, a senior Congress leader said.

Shettar, however, said, "Till now, no party leader has spoken to me on my induction into the cabinet. I also got an inkling only from some party sources and media reports. Unless I get direct communication from the party leadership, I cannot say anything."

The senior leader said by giving Shettar a plum post, the party will be pitting him against four-time MP and Union Minister Pralhad Joshi in the Dharwad Lok Sabha segment. The party will also tap into the majority Lingayats votes and try to dethrone BJP, which has held on to the seat since 1996.

Santosh Lad, Vinay Kulkarni and Prasad Abbayya – all three-time MLAs, are lobbying hard for berths. Lad, a mining baron from Ballari, was a minister in the earlier Siddaramaiah government

Former minister Kulkarni, who is an accused in a case of murder of BJP member Yogishgoudar Goudar, also sees a chance. Making a pitch, he said the party should allow second-line leaders to grow.

On Wednesday, Abbayya's supporters took out a march on the main streets of Hubballi seeking a cabinet berth for him. They contended that despite winning the Assembly elections three times in a row, Abbayya has never been made a minister. Abbayya is hoping to get in through the SC quota.

Hariprasad may get berth to steer Cong in DK dist

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

AFTER five-time Congress MLA UT Khader was elected Assembly Speaker, party leader BK Hariprasad is likely to emerge as a frontrunner for a ministerial berth from the coastal region and also the Dakshina Kannada district in-charge minister.

The 68-year-old hails belongs to the numerically dominant Billava community. After veteran Congress leader B Janardhana Poojary, also a Billava, retreated from politics, there was no one who could fill the vacuum.

Party leaders now feel this is the right time to hand over the baton to Hariprasad, who has the capability to take on the might of BJP and Hindutva forces in its stronghold.

Sources said the Grand Old Party is left with no other option but to give the reins to Hariprasad keeping in mind the interest of the the party's organisation in the district. After the poor show of the party in the region, there is no other Congress leader left to steer the party in the district.

For the last many years, in Dakshina Kannada, the party was in the grips of Bunts and Muslims due to former ministers B Ramanath Rai and Khader, who held good positions both in the government and the party. This in a way also alienated Billavas from Congress and they eventually became a strong vote bank for BJP.

Many feel the party can woo back Billavas by making Hariprasad the in-charge of DK district. This will also help the party give a tough fight to BJP in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

In 2019, after Janardhan Poojary's back-to-back defeat, the party fielded Mithun Rai, a youth from the Bunt community, but he lost by a huge margin of 2.73 lakh votes. As the Bunt experiment failed, the party has been forced to look for a strong alternative.

Sources said Hariprasad could be a better choice. But before that, he should be made a minister to have a strong grip on the constituency. He connects well with voters, especially the OBC and Dalit communities, by articulating the Congress government's landmark decisions like the Land Reforms Act of which the highest number of beneficiaries were from the coastal belt.

Veterans in dark about CM's plans

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

Supporters of Congress legislators have intensified lobbying for cabinet berths. With many MLAs being veterans, the party leadership is under pressure on how to placate all of them.

The inclusion of eight MLAs in the initial round has already left several seniors disappointed. Sidelining of prominent party legislators like Krishna Byregowda, RV Deshpande, Shamanur Shivashankarappa, HK Patil, Eshwar Khandre, BK Hariprasad and Dinesh Gundurao is being questioned.

Speculation is rife that at least one MLA each from prominent districts may be chosen. For some bigger districts like Bengaluru and Belagavi, more MLAs are likely to be included. However, the CM has not given out any clues.

With 37 MLAs winning from seven districts of Bombay-Karnataka, the party may include more Lingayats from this belt.

Party leaders said Siddaramaiah is expected to bring a mix of experience and youth into his cabinet. However, sources said the party is keen to ensure that all areas of the state will have a good representation.

INTERVIEW

'I feel honoured... will have to remain strictly neutral'

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

FIVE time Mangaluru MLA MLA U T Khader, who was unanimously elected Speaker, is the first Muslim member to hold the post. In an interview, he tells Bansy Kalappa what the role means to him, and how he will fulfil his responsibilities.

You are one of the senior-most Congress MLAs from coastal Karnataka, and one of only two from Dakshina Kannada. The people have expressed concern that there is no one to raise their issues in the assembly, because MLA Ashok Rai is a newcomer and may not be able to do justice to important coastal issues. Also, the four other Congress MLAs are from Uttara Kannada.

We cannot deny the anxiety and concern of the people. I will have to remain strictly neutral. There is one MLA and senior leaders who can raise issues. If any injustice is done to anyone from any party or region, I will do my best to take up and resolve these issues.

There is talk that after two-and-half-years, when there is a change in leadership in Karnataka, you will be back as minister. Is it true?

(Smiles) These are issues left to the Congress central leadership and high command. They will decide on these issues and who gets what responsibility. These are issues decided by the party.

CM Siddaramaiah spoke about the need to maintain peace and harmony on the occasion of you assuming the office of Speaker. Where there is peace, there is flow of investment, and where there is investment, there is growth in GDP and development?

It is true, I quite agree that if there is peace, there is economic transaction. It is true that where there is peace, there is investment and development.

We will work towards peace in all parts of the state. Peace is important not only for this, but also future generations.

Backbenchers need to be given a chance and I will ensure they get a chance. I too was a backbencher and I remember those days

UT Khader, Assembly Speaker

BJP leader Bommai said when you assumed office today, that every one should be given a chance, including newcomers and backbenchers need to be given a chance.

Yes, backbenchers need to be given a chance and I will ensure they get a chance. I too was a backbencher and I remember those days. We don't know what one's potential is until they are given a chance, and I agree that when they are given a chance, their potential is known. I will give more opportunity to the backbenchers.

You are the first person belonging to the minority Muslim community to occupy the position as Speaker, how do you feel?

I'm aware that I am the first person belonging to the Muslim community to occupy this position. I feel proud and honoured to occupy the position. I will also try to be the best to occupy this position.

Have you resigned from the primary membership of the Congress ?

A: I will be resigning from the primary membership of the party because a Speaker has to be neutral.

In 2012, you won the award for being best legislator, for questions you asked and issues raised. How will you teach youngsters to be model legislators?

I will encourage youngsters. They have to spend time in the library, attend sessions regularly, study issues and listen to senior leaders speaking and gain knowledge.

'FINISH OFF' SIDDU REMARK: FIR AGAINST ASHWATH NARAYAN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

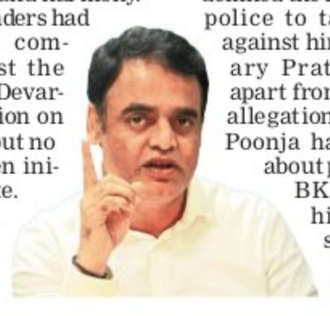
FIR against BJP MLA for comment against CM

AN FIR has been registered against BJP leader and former higher education minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan over his statement that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah should be "finished off" just like Tipu Sultan, during a public meeting in Sathanuru, Mandya district, on February 12.

Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) spokesperson M Lakshman lodged the complaint on Wednesday, seeking the arrest of the former minister. Based on the complaint, the Devaraja police registered an FIR under IPC Sections 153 (giving provocation with intent to cause riot) and 506 (criminal intimidation).

In the complaint, Lakshman said Ashwath Narayan made the statement with the intent to disturb peace and harmony.

Congress leaders had registered a complaint against the BJP leader at Devaraja police station on February 17, but no action has been initiated till date. So, a fresh complaint has been filed now, he said.



MANGALURU: The Belthangady police have registered an FIR against BJP MLA Harish Poonja for accusing Chief Minister Siddaramaiah of murdering 24 Hindus. A video, purportedly of the MLA making the comments, is being widely shared on social media. Poonja, who was elected as MLA from Belthangady for the second time, had made the controversial statement during his victory celebration on May 22.

A Congress worker filed a complaint against the statement at the Belthangady police station and the police registered an FIR. Dakshina Kannada Superintendent of Police Vikram Amathe confirmed the developments.

Congress strongly condemned the MLA and urged the police to take stern action against him. KPCC functionary Prathiba Kulai said apart from making baseless allegations against the CM, Poonja has also spoken ill about party senior leader BK Hariprasad and his family. She said she will meet the DG&IGP on Thursday.

'Cong should win 20 seats in LS polls'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER its thumping victory in the recent Assembly elections, Congress is keen on continuing its winning momentum for the 2024 Lok Sabha polls and elections to urban local bodies (ULBs).

At the Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting on Wednesday, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister and KPCC president DK Shivakumar asked the legislators to work in their constituencies keeping the 2024 general elections in mind. Shivakumar said Congress has to win at least 20 of the 28 Lok Sabha seats in Karnataka and they all need to start working towards that goal as well as Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike elections.

Congress and Janata Dal (Secular) faced the 2019 Lok Sabha polls as alliance partners and suffered a humiliating defeat as they won just one seat each, while BJP won 25 seats.

The alliance government headed by HD Kumaraswamy was in power during the last LS polls. This time around, Congress is buoyant after its stupendous performance in the Assembly elections.

Those who will be appointed district ministers must have offices in districts and MLAs must have offices in their constituencies, Shivakumar told party MLAs. "The party office is our temple and we must give it priority," he said, asking the legislators not to forget the party workers who worked for them in the elections.

After the meeting, Shivakumar told reporters that providing good administration that fulfils the aspirations of the people is the government's priority and all MLAs should ensure that the government programmes, including the guarantees, reach beneficiaries.

Bommai slams DyCM's 'saffronisation' remark

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister Basavaraj Bommai and other senior BJP leaders took exception to Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's remarks that the State Government will not allow saffronisation of the police force. Bommai said such comments will demoralise the force and this is not a good beginning.

The former CM told reporters that Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar have warned the department that they would not allow the saffronisation of the police force. "The Karnataka Police has a good name in the entire country and the police have never done saffronisation. The Congress leaders have decided to implement their agenda and as part of it, they are demoralising the police department. The Congress has started its appeasement politics from day one of assuming power in the state and that is not a good beginning," Bommai added.

Shivakumar defended his remarks by saying police officials have to work as per the law. "On three-four occasions, police personnel wore the dress of a political outfit and posed for photographs," he said.

The DyCM also questioned why they had issued notice to Minister Priyank Kharge when he had raised the corruption issue. "How many people were summoned? Why they did not summon (Contractors Association president) Kempanna? Why he (Priyank) was summoned? Forget political bosses, the police officials have to work as per the law of the land," he added.

No face-off with DK Suresh, clarifies MB Patil

Bengaluru: Senior Congress leader and Minister MB Patil rubbished reports that hed faced off with Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's brother and Congress MP DK Suresh. Patil told reporters on Wednesday that while he was walking out after the CLP meeting, Suresh called him with respect and told him to "stay strong". In turn, Patil told Suresh that he will talk to him later. "There is no truth that he warned me. No one can warn me or Shivakumar or Suresh. Please don't spread false reports," he said. ENS

Poll effect: Ibrahim to step down as state JDS chief

H D Kumaraswmay arrives for the Assembly session in Bengaluru on Wednesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

TAKING moral responsibility for the party's poor performance in the recent Assembly elections, Janata Dal (Secular) state president CM Ibrahim has decided to step down from the post.

Speaking to reporters on Wednesday, Ibrahim said that he owned the moral responsibility of the defeat in the elections and had decided to tender his resignation to the president's post. "I have taken the decision in the interest of the party and have informed the party leaders that I will step down," he said, adding that he would continue to strengthen the party as a worker in view of the upcoming elections for local bodies.

Meanwhile, former CM HD Kumaraswamy was elected as the leader of the JDS legislature party on Wednesday, in a meeting attended by all 19 new MLAs of the party.

Speaking to reporters, Kumaraswamy attacked the new Congress government that the true colour of the party was exposed within a week. "The party came to power by promising five guarantees. Now, they are saying that terms and conditions apply for the same. Why didn't they say it while announcing the guarantees? There are instances of people attacking electric meter readers and women refusing to buy bus tickets."

As per the Karnataka State Higher Education Council Act 2010, the state government has issued an order cancelling nominations of all ex-officio, non ex-officio and non-official members in state universities. This includes the appointments of syndicate members, board of governors

G20 working group meet: Focus on WTO reforms

Dedicated to creating an investor-friendly landscape, says Union Min Som Parkash

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

MINISTER of State for Commerce and Industry Anupriya Patel on Wednesday said there is a need to address World Trade Organisation (WTO) reforms on top priority basis.

Delivering the keynote address at the second day of the Trade and Invest Working Group (TIWG) meeting in Bengaluru, she said WTO assumes a vital role in ensuring fairness and transparency in global trade, and forms the backbone of the multilateral trading system.

The G20 Regulatory Dialogue will enable informal dialogues on exchanging good regulatory practices among countries, and will infuse transparency, predictability in framing and application of regulations, she added. Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Som Parkash said India, as a vibrant and dynamic nation, has long recognised the significance of trade and its pivotal role in driving economic growth. "We have witnessed a remarkable transformation through embracing open markets and global integration. This has also been driven by a robust entrepreneurial spirit and steadfast government support," he said.

"We are dedicated to creating an investor-friendly landscape by providing a stable policy framework, protecting intellectual property rights, and ensuring the availability of skilled talent," he added.

WTO has effectively played the role of a functional rule making and enforcing body for the international trading community, and therefore, the process of its reformation necessitates inclusive efforts aimed at bolstering the multilateral trading system, said Sunil Barthwal, secretary, Department of Commerce.

Later, the G20 delegates and ministers visited the Experience Zone set up by Coffee Board of India, and an Exhibition Zone set up by DPIIT. Bengaluru-based startups Xovian Aerospace, Vyomastra Technologies LLP, Robotguru Education Technologies and Anscer Robotics also exhibited their latest innovative offerings.

Nearly 75 delegates from G20 member countries, invitee countries, regional groupings and international organisations are engaged in deliberations in the three-day event to accelerate global trade and investment. Earlier on Tuesday, delegates also visited Vidhana Soudha, explored Bangalore Palace and the Museum of Art & Photography.

Preparations on at Hampi for meeting

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR
@ Hosapete

THE Vijayanagara district administration has started its preparations to host the 3rd G20 Sherpa meeting which will be held in Hampi from July 10-12.

Officials from the External Affairs Ministry have visited Hampi twice in the last two months and they are likely to hold another meeting with the district administration officials in the coming days.

Preparatory works like creating more parking slots, enhancing security, creation of more accommodation and other works are being taken up. The External Affairs Ministry is continuously giving its inputs and suggestions to the Vijayanagara administration.

Speaking to TNIE, Vijayanagara Deputy Commissioner Venkatesh T said that the meeting will be held in the heritage area of Hampi. "In Karnataka, after Bengaluru and Mysuru, Hampi will be hosting the summit. External Affairs Ministry officials have visited Hampi twice. They are expected to visit Hampi once again to oversee the preparations," he siad.

More than 200 delegates of G20 countries will be visiting Hampi for the meeting.

Man kills nurse, stores body parts in fridge

HORROR IN HYDERABAD

PRIYA RATHNAM @ Hyderabad

THE mystery behind the severed head found in Musi waters a week ago was solved on Wednesday with the Malakpet police identifying the victim as 55-year-old Yerram Anuradha Reddy, who was a nurse in a private hospital in the city.

Police investigation revealed that the grisly murder, similar to the Shraddha Walker case, was committed in a fit of rage following a dispute over money. The accused, identified as B Chandra Mohan (48), stabbed Anuradha and then chopped her body into six pieces. He then dumped her head into the Musi and kept the rest of the body parts in a fridge.

According to the police, an altercation between Chandra Mohan and Anuradha occurred on May 12 in her ground-floor residence in RTC Colony, Chaitanyapuri, when she insisted that he return the Rs 7 lakh that he had borrowed from her. In a fit of rage, he fatally stabbed her in the chest and stomach. Subsequently, he acquired two stone cutters, knives, and blades to carry out the gruesome dissection. Returning to the deceased's house, he severed her head and transported it to his own residence on the first floor of the same building. The head was carefully wrapped in a polythene cover and stored in the refrigerator. Extensive research was conducted on body preservation techniques to prevent odour, following which Chandra Mohan purchased items such as phenyl, perfume, incense sticks, camphor, and various sprays.

Under the cover of night, he proceeded to dismember the remaining body parts, packing them in polythene covers and storing them in his refrigerator. The accused even resorted to the daily application of perfumes to mask any potential smell.

South East Zone DCP Ch Rupesh revealed details of the investigation, "Eight dedicated teams have been meticulously working on the case. After painstakingly analysing countless hours of CCTV camera footage, we stumbled upon a lead that revealed suspicious activities of the accused near the crime scene. With his face concealed by a handkerchief and cap, the trail ultimately led us to his residence."

Probe unveiled an affair between Chandra Mohan and Anuradha, whose husband had separated from her. Her daughter is residing in Australia.

'Will ban Bajrang Dal, RSS if they cross line'

Priyank said: "The previous government had decided to observe certain jayantis (birth anniversary of prominent figures) and left out others. Not only jayantis, their orders, whether it is regarding textbooks, anti-cow slaughter, anti-conversion bills (laws), all of them will be revised," he said.

Speaking to TNIE after his statement to a private TV channel that the Congress government will not hesitate to ban even the Bajrang Dal and even the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) if they broke the law of the land, Kharge said, "Any organisation with affiliations to a party, if they cross the line, do not follow the law of the land, or do unconstitutional things, we will not hesitate in banning them, or taking action against them as per what is prescribed by the law." Meanwhile, BJP leader and MLC N Ravikumar said, "We will launch a struggle against the government condemning its move and safeguarding our culture. Will you people encourage mass conversions?"

The minister also did not spare the opportunity to echo DyCM DK Shivakumar's Tuesday lambasting to the police, when he said, "We will not tolerate the police indulging in political activities whether its in favour of BJP or Congress when they are in uniform, (by) wearing saffron shawls, chanting slogans in favour of certain parties as they are bound by service rules to follow the Constitution. They are supposed to enforce the laws, and should not be stooges of political parties as they are officers of the government," he said.

Amnesty urgers govt to revoke hijab ban

Amnesty India has urged the Karnataka government to revoke the ban on women wearing hijab in educational institutions.

In a series of tweets, Amnesty India stated that the state government must prioritise and uphold human rights for all in the state, and urged the government to act on priority. "Immediately revoke the ban on women wearing hijab in educational institutions. The ban forces Muslim girls to choose between their right to freedom of expression and religion, and their right to education, hindering their ability to meaningfully participate in society," it stated.

LAW SAVING DOCTORS WELCOME BUT RESPECT PATIENTS' RIGHTS TOO

Two weeks after a medical intern on duty was stabbed to death by a man the police brought to the hospital, Kerala Governor Arif Mohammed Khan has consented to the ordinance amending the Hospital Protection Act with stringent punishments for attacks against healthcare workers. As per the law, "a person found guilty of attacking a health worker and causing grievous bodily harm can face up to seven years in jail and a ₹5 lakh fine". The minimum punishment will be one-year imprisonment and a fine of ₹1 lakh. Verbally abusing health workers has also been made a punishable offence. The law also insists that the FIR must be registered within 24 hours of receiving the complaint and that a police officer not below the rank of a sub-inspector shall conduct the inquiry and complete it within 60 days of FIR registration. The law also says the trial shall be completed in a time-bound manner.

As per official data, the police in Kerala have registered 469 cases of attack against doctors since 2012. Seventy attacks against hospitals have also been registered in the same period. The attacks have increased post-Covid, with 169 registered in the last two years alone. In this context, the medical fraternity, demanding stricter sanctions against culprits, has welcomed the ordinance. The move by the state government has come amid demands by doctors across the country to bring in Central legislation for their protection. The Kerala High Court, too, has asked the government to implement the legislation at the earliest.

While all have welcomed the new rule, some concerns have been raised regarding its misuse. There are apprehensions that the stricter law, which protects the medical fraternity, will leave the patient at the absolute mercy of the doctors. Health activists point out that if the law is not implemented in the right spirit, even genuine concerns and reservations the patient raises could be construed as attacks on the medical fraternity. The possibility of misuse is there with any legislation and, therefore, the government must be cautious in its implementation. It must protect the medical fraternity from all forms of attacks, while ensuring that patients' rights are not violated.

UNDERPASS DEATH MAJOR PRE-RAINS WAKE-UP CALL

The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), which is in charge of the IT city's civic infrastructure, has failed its citizens. It has repeatedly failed to keep the city safe for its people, with accidental deaths becoming much too common, monsoon after monsoon. The death by drowning of a young woman trapped in a MUV in a flooded underpass left Bengaluru in shock and anger. And this, just a few hundred metres from Vidhana Soudha, the seat of power. The same day, a man slipped into a stormwater drain and died. Last year, riding through knee-deep water, a young woman touched a metal median to steady herself and was electrocuted. Being washed away in stormwater drains or falling into flooded open manholes can no longer stun Bengalureans; they have begun to accept it as a street hazard. It also means that all civic agencies have failed, including Bangalore Electricity Supply Company (Bescom) and Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB).

The underpass tragedy is another warning that half-baked planning is disastrous. While the MUV driver was also at fault, the underpass has been unscientifically designed, descending suddenly into a deep trough, and as admitted by BBMP officials themselves, lacks proper drainage facilities. It did not occur to the planners that water always finds the lowest level. Laws of physics apply. Engineering skills apart, such projects require common sense, too.

Thanks to rampant concretisation, rain almost always leaves Bengaluru in a complete mess. The latest hazard is white-topping, touted as a long-lasting solution for potholed roads. But road engineering experts have pointed out that the concrete layer is too thick, there is a mismatch between road and drain levels, and there is no slope between the footpath and road. BBMP has only retrofitted the white-topping method without understanding how it works. It is the perfect recipe for floods in a city which once had 837 lakes and tanks, where 88 lakes and interconnecting water channels have disappeared, and 80% of the existing lakes are contaminated.

Most lakes are now the city's best BDA layouts, stadiums, and bus stations. Until such issues are addressed, citizens will continue to pay the price, and we can anticipate more distress, death and disaster. It is deplorable that civic infrastructure is claiming lives. If justice is to be served, the officials responsible must be sued.

QUICK TAKE

YOUNG MINDS, RISKY CHOICES

Police trace 16 minors, including 13 girls, missing from Shimla district this month. IP addresses and call data from cell phones helped locate them. They ran away deliberately to move out with a partner, explore new places or experience the urban glitter social media introduced them to. NGOs handling missing children recognise a similar trend nationwide. They usually share new-found self-assertion, boredom with studies and an eagerness to earn money quickly. Social services, teachers and parents must realise that today's children proactively challenge home restrictions and parental abuse and are making their life choices even at the risk of getting hurt.

Deep disagreements over key aspects of individual and social life have marked the heterogeneity of Israeli polity

POLITICS OF THE RIGHT VS RITE OF JUDICIARY

P R KUMARASWAMY

Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East

SOURAV ROY

Since its founding in 1948, Israel has built its international image and reputation on its democratic credentials. Despite arguments and differences over the status of its Arab minority population, no comparable states in the Middle Eastern region can compete with, let alone better, Israel. Thus, the international community largely accepted Israel's credentials as it has been surrounded by hereditary monarchs, autocratic rulers and military dictators. If the experiments with democracy have considerably diluted the secular character of Türkiye, confessional politics have exposed rather than strengthened democracy in Lebanon. Thus, over a century after the demise of the multi-cultural, multi-ethnic and multi-religious Ottoman Empire, with all its imperfections and shortcomings, Israel symbolises and represents democracy, or the lack of it, in the Middle East.

From the beginning, deep political divisions and social cleavages consolidated democracy in Israel. The popular maxim 'Two Israelis and three political views' symbolises this diversity and division essential for its success. Though during the pre-state era, most Jews emigrated from non-democratic environments, their strive for nation-building was accompanied by the need to cooperate and co-opt diverse stands of opinion.

The post-1948 diversity witnessed unstable coalitions wherein no political party or alliance could secure the simple majority of 61 seats in the 120-member Knesset. As a result, periodic changes of governments and frequent elections came to mark Israeli democracy and its fragility. Thus, in 75 years, Israel had 24 elections (with an average survival rate of just over three years) and 37 governments (with an average longevity rate of just two years).

The Israeli democracy took a definite turn in 1977 when the electorate ended the monopoly of the Labour Party and voted the right-wing Likud to office; since then, the Likud has dominated, and often controlled, the political space through ideological convergence and tactical understanding with religious parties, who were once staunch allies of Labour Zionism. The political shift also reflected and manifested in increasing political instability, the shrinking of the labour and left parties, and the emergence of diverse centralist parties, with Blue and White and Yesh Atid being the latest avatars.

Deep disagreements and differences over key aspects of individual and social life have marked the heterogeneity of Israeli polity. Issues such as civil-military relations, the role of religion in personal lives, religious-secular schism, contests over the economic model and the vexed peace process became the battlegrounds for diversity. Often these differences resulted in differing strategies in addressing national security challenges; Netanyahu's inability to pursue a robust military strategy vis-à-vis the Iranian nuclear programme, for example, is partly due to severe differences within the military-security establishment.

Against these divisions and disagreements, the Israel democracy drew its strength from the virulently independent and assertive judiciary. While they could ignore and even belittle critical international opinions, Israeli governments must submit to the judiciary and its increasing activism since the early 1990s. The absence of a written Constitution enabled greater judicial activism, especially during the tenure of Aharon Barak as the president of the Supreme Court during 1995–2006. Like its counterparts in the West, the Israeli judiciary preferred and prioritised Israel's democratic credentials over the narrow sectoral agenda of the political class. Gender parity in the military, accountability of elected officials, the fight against political corruption, gender-sensitive social norms, an equitable military draft, etc., were largely spurred by judicial moves.

These, in turn, generated anger among a significant section of Israeli society, especially those representing the right-wing and religious groups who understood and identified the liberal judiciary with the left and hence a threat to their long-term survival. Curbing the judiciary's power, thus, became the new fulcrum for the right-religious alliance. There is also a personal dimension to this fight against the judiciary: Prime Minister Netanyahu and leader of the Shas party Aryeh Deri face corruption charges.

Netanyahu, who heads the narrow 64-member ruling coalition, is facing increasing pressures from his coalition partners. Religious parties are adamant on two core issues: One, the return of Deri to the cabinet after he was forced to quit by the judiciary days after Netanyahu assumed office last December. The second and equally emotive issue for the religious voters is securing a clear and indefinite exemption for the yeshiva students from military service, which is compulsory for all Jewish men and women.

As events during the last week of April indicated, even solemn occasions like national day celebrations could not dampen or sidestep deep divisions within the country over Netanyahu's determination to make the judiciary the appendix of the executive. Popular and elected politicians rarely tolerate, let alone enjoy, judicial autonomy, especially when the latter demands accountability and the rule of law. Netanyahu is no exception and seeks to emulate former US president Donald Trump and fill the judiciary with conservative persons. This, in turn, led to popular protests since early January.

One might narrowly interpret these protests as signs of continuing political instability, the weakening of Netanyahu's authority and sidestepping of critical national security and foreign policy issues facing the country. Indeed, Israel's relations with the outside world have taken a backseat, and as an internal report prepared by senior members of the foreign ministry indicated, these protests and their rationale have negatively impacted Israel's diplomatic fortunes in several Western capitals.

Having bought some time by temporarily suspending his proposal to transform the judiciary, Netanyahu recognises that abandoning his plan will undo his coalition. He is already facing the heat from his far-right allies, who demand more assertive and aggressive policies towards Israeli Arabs and Palestinians in the occupied territories. They also demand increased settlement activities.

Though opinion polls predict a resounding victory for the opposition, the protesters—from diverse sections, age groups, social strata and geographic locations—clearly show that the battle is not over until the reforms are scrapped. Israel is heading towards a more tumultuous and hotter summer.

NATIONAL CURRICULUM FRAMEWORK AND THE GAPS IN THE SYSTEM

The draft National Curriculum Framework 2023 (NCF 2023) openly acknowledges that the school assessment process debilitates rather than nurtures the abilities of students. The 10th and 12th board exams are especially culpable of stressing out students. These high-stake exams give a feeling to students and parents that life is determined by the 10th or 12th exams, each written in three hours' time. It comes down to 'upcoming exams', 'ongoing exams' and 'past exams' determining the relationship between parents and their children. What potential and merit do these tests have in evaluating students' talents? Though the draft NCF 2023 attempts to provide an answer, its effectiveness must be determined after implementation.

The views put forward in the draft NCF 2023 about the board exams have already triggered discussions. An important reason is the self-critical assessment that NCF 2023 made about board exams. Board examinations have failed in their primary task of assessing the various abilities of students. Instead, they ended up measuring students' 'ability to mug up content'. Of course, this is an age-old and popular criticism about examinations.

It will not be an exaggeration to say that a student who prepares like this, with minimum intelligence, will probably score higher in science exams than Newton or Einstein. Parents believe it is their responsibility to 'prepare' their child. Often, this even leads to physical abuse, affecting the parent-child relationship, sometimes with long-term bad effects.

Board exams are only at the end of the year. In this regard, the suggestions of the draft NCF 2023 are generally acceptable but require more precision in their implementation. The main suggestion is that board exams should become a means of measuring the achievement of the outcomes stated in the curriculum. Board exams are written tests. Not all abilities can be measured with a written test. In that case, evaluations through internal assessments become very important.

There are allegations that schools are generous in awarding internal marks so that the pass percentage remains high. Intense competition among schools to ensure a high pass percentage may spoil the true spirit of internal evaluation. This necessitates a system to ensure equitable distribution of internal marks. Mechanisms like external examination boards to revalidate the internal marks awarded by teachers to students are essential for fair evaluation.

The draft NCF 2023 states that an important responsibility of the examination boards is to develop and implement assessment tools that aid in accurately measuring the skills and abilities required to complete the curriculum. This includes a variety of skills and competencies that cannot be measured through customary written tests. This necessitates evaluation tools which can assess the students' varied skills through both written and other means.

EXPRESS PHOTO

> Parents believe it is their responsibility to 'prepare' the child. Often, this leads to physical abuse, affecting the parent-child relationship, sometimes with long-term bad effects

But the examination boards of various states and CBSE do not have a research wing to develop such tools. Examination boards are just bureaucratic offices. For board exams to become an accurate and fair measure of students' skills and abilities, the assessment will have to be derived on the basis of a systematic research process, every year.

The second suggestion is having two board examinations for 10th and 12th grade to prevent stressed students from pinning all their hopes on one exam. Will reforming board exams from one exam to two help reduce exam stress? Can a student be allowed to write board exams only once or are they allowed to write twice? If allowed to write both exams, children will be under pressure to take both. A child who gets 99 marks will take the second test to make up for a missed mark. Similarly, a student who passes the exam with a reasonable score may also be pressured to attempt it again. However, it is the students who score low that deserve to take the second exam. Still, what is the remedy for this double stress, especially for low performers?

Another suggestion of NCF 2023 is on-demand board examinations, as envisioned by NEP 2020. This will be applicable to secondary school students. Parents and teachers craving for better performance of their wards would advise them to delay taking the board exam if it is on-demand. Students will think, "When should I demand an examination during the academic year?" Until the syllabus is fully covered at school, students will not demand board exams. So there will be hardly any takers for the board examinations until the last quarter or till the whole syllabus is completed. This means that the demand for board exams will start only after completion of syllabus, that is, by the end of the academic year. So, this would not differ much from the existing examination system.

In spite of all the alluring suggestions by NCF 2023, the scaling down of test anxiety seems to be a chimera. NCF may consider splitting the board exams into smaller connected units and distributing them over the entire period of secondary schooling, i.e., 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades. This would facilitate spontaneous assessments of students in their schools.

In spontaneous assessments, children are evaluated by well-trained teachers using scientific tools in natural school settings. Board exams will start from the very first day of the secondary schooling of a student. Reducing the weightage for year-end written examinations, spontaneous assessments rely heavily on the fair and just evaluation by teachers. Teachers as fair evaluators are the cornerstones of the spontaneous assessment system. The scores derived through this procedure must be validated through the support of an external team of experts who make multiple visits to the school during the academic year. It will help change the perception that excellence in board exams can only happen through 'writing' and with herculean 'preparation'.

Civil society

Apropos of Shiv Visvanathan's The return of civil society is imperative (May 24). I found the article thought-provoking. The challenging times we witness today demand civil society to come out of its slumber and dedicate itself to the cause of a composite national culture. It should call upon citizens, regardless of their caste and gender, to unite for the prosperity of the nation.

Dissent destruction

If the present BJP government is really guilty of "destruction of dissent" as alleged by Shiv Visvanathan, critical articles like his wouldn't have found place in the media. He quotes a Jesuit scholar to take a dig at the BJP's stance towards minorities but points no finger at the non-Indic missionaries' expansionist campaigns of conversion.

Congress victory

Apropos of Congress and Karnataka: Five leaves out of Kejriwal's book (May 24). The writer has given a threadbare analysis of the Congress' victory. She rightly cautioned that the Congress cannot gloat believing the same template will bring success in other state elections too. Though the writer blames Congress and BJP for corruption, AAP leaders are also facing corruption charges.

Civil services

It is very heartening that the first four positions in the Civil Services Exam 2022 have been secured by women. This grand achievement follows last year's feat when the first three ranks were captured by women.

Judicial officers

Apropos of Protect our lives, launch safety protocol, plead judicial officers (May 24). It is high time authorities take note of the situation where police present the accused before magistrates at their residences during late hours. The magistrates, especially women, might be alone, and the accused are threats to their lives. So, police must handcuff them before they are produced before magistrates.

Pink note

Apropos of Pink note turbulence sets off gold rush (May 24). When we compare this with the previous exercise in 2016, this does not affect the common man. The money stored in rooms is coming out by purchasing gold, silver and jewels, thereby increasing the price of gold. The government doesn't know the common man. The peculiar governance is causing turbulence in almost all fields.

Mamata to skip Niti Aayog meet

Bengal CM ducked meetings held in 2018, '19 and '21 claiming think tank is 'powerless'

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

PROJECTING her party as the mainstay of anti-BJP parties' march before the 2024 general elections, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee is likely to skip Niti Aayog meeting scheduled on May 27 in Delhi, said state secretariat officials at Nabanna.

Mamata's decision came a day after her party Trinamool Congress decided to boycott the inauguration of the newly-built Parliament building. It is not the first time Mamata will be skipping a Niti Aayog meeting. She has skipped the meetings in 2018, 2019 and 2021 claiming the think-tank has no power and the meetings were "fruitless".

The reason behind Banerjee's skipping of the Niti Aayog meeting this time is not known. "On Wednesday afternoon, the chief minister said that she would not attend the Niti Aayog meeting and asked to cancel her Delhi visit on May 27," said an official of the state government.

Mamata had earlier this month expressed interest in participating in the meeting and said that she will highlight the issue of the state which being allegedly deprived by the Centre.

She had then said, "I will be participating at the Niti Ayog meeting on May 27 in New Delhi because it is the only platform to highlight the issues of a state". Mamata had asked Bihar Chief Minister and JD(U) leader Nitish Kumar to hold a meeting of opposition parties in Patna at the end of this month to prepare together for the 2024 Lok Sabha poll. But it does not seem to be possible at this juncture

Mamata Banerjee's decision came a day after her party Trinamool Congress decided to boycott the inauguration of the new Parliament building in Delhi | EXPRESS

The senior TMC leadership found Mamata's decision to skip Neeti Aayog meeting was politically well-calculated.

"Her earlier Niti Aayog meeting boycott had made news with little political impact but her decision to skip this year's event assumes significance, especially on a day when all 19 Opposition parties joined to boycott the inaugural event on May 28. Besides, she is now desperate to portray her party as the prime political force against the BJP in the backdrop of Congress's impressive performance in Karnataka derailing the saffron camp from the power," said a senior TMC leader.

On the day of Karanataka election results, Mamata described it as people's verdict against the BJP and in favour of unity in diversity, without mentioning Congress's name.

Though she appreciated HD Kumaraswami for his party Janata Dal Secular's (JDS) performance in the Karnataka elections, the West Bengal chief minister did not drop names of Congress and Rahul Gandhi while congratulating the candidates who secured victory against the BJP.

Mamata has been portraying the Trinamool Congress as the only political force which can defeat the saffron camp since her party came to power for straight third term in the 2021 Assembly elections.

Shortly after returning to power in 2021, Mamata also held a meeting with Sonia Gandhi in Delhi eyeing Opposition parties' unity against the BJP. But her relationship with the Congress turned sour and it became public before the elections in Goa as refused to accept the Congress party as the leader of the opposition unity, alleging the grand old party failed to retain its elected MLAs who defected to the BJP.

She claimed TMC is the only political force that can defeat the BJP.

"But Congress's impressive victory in Karnataka has caused a jolt to her claim. Besides, elections are approaching in Madhya Pradesh and Chhattisgarh and if the Congress manages to win in both the states, Mamata's claim of being principal anti-BJP party will be challenged and the Congress will definitely play a lead role in the oppositions' alliance before the 2024 general elections," admitted a senior TMC leader.

Pradhan: Shifting from DBT to cash payout a step backward

BIJOY PRADHAN @Bhubaneswar

UNION Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Wednesday shot off a letter to CM Naveen Patnaik urging him to reconsider the decision of cash payout to beneficiaries of Madhubabu Pension Yojana (MBPY), the Odisha government's social assistance scheme.

Pradhan said that the state government's decision to shift from direct benefit transfer (DBT) mechanism "appears to be a step backwards in our collective pursuit of corruption-free governance and efficient public service delivery".

Pradhan's letter came after the state's decision to pay pension in cash from June onwards citing problems faced by old-age, widow and divyang beneficiaries in withdrawing from bank accounts.

The DBT scheme, he said, was introduced under the leadership of PM Narendra Modi to ensure that the benefits of government schemes reach every individual, without any pilferage.

Under Jan Dhan Yojana, he said, at least 48.99 crore bank accounts have been opened across India, amassing savings of ₹1.97 lakh crore. "In Odisha, 2.01 crore bank accounts have been activated with a saving of ₹8,751 crore for the people of our state. Moreover, 1,45,48,473 RuPay cards have been issued in Odisha," he said.

He said social security schemes under the National Social Assistance Programme (NSAP) have provided safety nets to people of Odisha, settling claims worth hundreds of crores of rupees and financially aiding numerous families through the DBT mechanism. Under NSAP, over 20.95 lakh beneficiaries of the state are being provided with benefits through the DBT mechanism.

"Adoption of DBT has resulted in massive savings to the exchequer, by removal of fake/ghost beneficiaries and reducing need for intermediaries/middlemen. It has immensely helped in plugging leakage and diversions and has eliminated scope of corruption," the letter said.

Stating that Odisha had swiftly adopted DBT both in central and state schemes, he said the state's total DBT in 2022-23 stood at ₹8,135.18 crore and almost 1.95 crore beneficiaries have been covered.

"Due to elimination of ghost beneficiaries by adoption of DBT, the Odisha government has made an estimated saving of ₹459.96 crore during 2021-22. Needless to mention, the Government of India has saved approximately ₹2.73 lakh crore cumulative till close of 2021-22 due to adoption of DBT," he said.

Pradhan allayed fear of the state government saying there is a network of 8,491 post offices, which are capable to provide the financial services in remote and rural areas of the state.

UGC moots panel to assess faculty postings and awarding of PhDs

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

IN an effort to prevent the violation of regulations, the University Grants Commission (UGC) will soon establish a committee that will periodically evaluate faculty appointments and the awarding of PhDs at higher education institutions (HEIs).

The committee, composed of renowned academics, will convene at regular intervals to select a few institutions, gather information on faculty appointments and the award of Ph.D. degrees, and verify documents to ensure that the process of teacher appointments and Ph.D. degree awards adheres to UGC Regulations.

In cases of violations, the committee will also recommend appropriate actions. "UGC takes such violations very seriously and intends to implement measures to control violations of UGC Regulations," said UGC Chairperson M Jagadesh Kumar.

He stated that the decision to form the committee was made by the UGC at its 568th meeting on April 24. The need for such a committee arose due to instances of appointment norms being violated over the years, which resulted in numerous complaints to regulatory bodies.

Committee formed due to 'norms violations'

UGC Chairperson M Jagadesh Kumar stated that the decision to form the committee was made by at UGS's 568th meeting on April 24. The need for such a committee arose due to instances of appointment norms being violated over the years, which resulted in numerous complaints

Kumar explained that faculty appointments at HEIs and the awarding of PhDs are governed by two sets of regulations: the UGC Regulations on Minimum Qualifications for Appointment of Teachers and Other Academic Staff in Universities and Colleges and Measures for the Maintenance of Standards in Higher Education, 2018; and the UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedures for Award of Ph.D. Degree) Regulations, 2022.

Both regulations establish the criteria for selecting candidates for teacher appointments and maintaining the quality of research degrees awarded at HEIs, and compliance with these regulations is mandatory.

However, despite the existence of these regulations, complaints regarding violations are not uncommon.

The role of HEIs in fostering intellectuals and imparting knowledge for the nation's development is well-known. "The UGC, with the mandate to promote and coordinate university education, periodically notifies regulations to ensure the quality of teachers and the quality of research degrees. The quality of higher education largely depends on the competence of those who teach and how research is encouraged," he explained.

Since the regulations stipulate the minimum standards that HEIs must uphold, any violation of these regulations inevitably leads to a decline in the standards of higher education, he added.

'Need connected world to tackle health crisis'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

IN light of the Covid-19 pandemic and the rising need for a universal system to tackle health challenges across the world, Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya has proposed a comprehensive medical platform, Global Medical Countermeasures Platform.

During his keynote address at the 76th session of the World Health Assembly, Mandaviya said, "The Global Medical Countermeasures Platform aims to ensure equitable access to safe, high-quality, cost-effective medical countermeasures to all the countries," he said.

He was speaking on Tuesday at the WHA in the presence of Dr. Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Director General, World Health Organization and health ministers from across the world. "The unprecedented circumstances of the Covid-19 pandemic have further served to strengthen the agenda for a more connected world that is prepared to tackle future health challenges," he said.

Underscoring the need to bridge the global digital divide, the health minister said, "Global Initiative on Digital Health will facilitate in building consensus on the promotion of Digital Public Goods for customization and democratization of digital tools for the world and particularly for low- and middle-income countries (LMICs)."

He reiterated that the aim of the Global Initiative on Digital Health is to act as an institutional framework and provide agile and fit-for-purpose digital solutions with the use of cutting-edge technologies.

Citing the Ni-kshay Platform as an example of innovation and investment in health technologies, he reiterated India's commitment to eliminate Tuberculosis leveraging its own mathematical model substantiated by the end-to-end patient care, provider workflows, and digitization of the cascade of care incorporated in the platform. Commending the WHO for prioritizing the agenda of "Health for All," he said "the theme finds resonance with the theme of G20 India Presidency 'One Earth, One Family, One Future' as well as the notion of "Antyodaya" meaning reaching the last person in the last mile."

Highlighting the impact of Covid-19 on the world, he noted that though the pandemic has indeed taken a toll on healthcare systems, it is vital to maintain the momentum and work in tandem to translate the vision of 'Health for All' into reality and ensure a healthier tomorrow for the coming generations. In his address, WHO chief Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus issued a warning that the world must get ready for the next pandemic, which might be "even deadlier" than the COVID-19 pandemic, at a time when Covid cases are stabilising around the world.

"The end of COVID-19 as a global health emergency is not the end of COVID-19 as a global health threat," Tedros said. "The threat of another variant emerging that causes new surges of disease and death remains, and the threat of another pathogen emerging with even deadlier potential remains."

The WHO head said this as he presented his report to the 76th World Health Assembly. "Pandemics are far from the only threat we face", he added, underscoring the need for effective global mechanisms that address and respond to emergencies of all kinds.

"When the next pandemic comes knocking-and it will-we must be ready to answer decisively, collectively, and equitably," he advised. Tedros said Covid-19 had significant implications for health-related targets under the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), which have a deadline of 2030.

Healthcare for all

The theme finds resonance with the theme of India's G20 Presidency 'One Earth, One Family, One Future' as well as the notion of "Antyodaya" meaning reaching the last person in the last mile.

The Global Medical Countermeasures Platform aims to ensure equitable access to safe, high-quality, cost-effective medical countermeasures to all the countries.

The aim of the Global Initiative on Digital Health is to act as an institutional framework and provide agile and fit-for-purpose digital solutions with the use of cutting-edge technologies.

The world must get ready for the next pandemic, which might be "even deadlier" than the COVID-19 pandemic.

MoD plans expeditions to scale country's peaks

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE climbers of the National Institute of Mountaineering and Adventure Sports (NIMAS), Dirang, Arunachal Pradesh, are on a rare expedition, Har Shikhar Tiranga (HST). The team is on its way to hoist the national flag on the highest point of every state of India, and this will be the first time.

On Monday, the team climbed Mt Purgyal (6,816 meters) in Himachal Pradesh, marking only the third recorded summit. This ascent took place in May, while others typically climb in July or August when there is less snow. However, it tested the technical and physical strength of the team. "We had to carry our things on our own and had to pitch an extra camp. Mules were not able to cross due to excessive snow."

The climb was technically challenging due to snow, rocks, and undulating rock features, and it took the team 8 hours to cover 400 meters. In total, the journey from the base camp to the summit and back took 12 days. The Har Shikhar Tiranga mission was flagged off by Pema Khandu, Chief Minister of the state of Arunachal Pradesh, from NIMAS, Dirang. "It is a matter of pride for us that such a rare mission has begun from Arunachal Pradesh."

Col Jamwal (2nd from L) and other expedition members | Express

The team of NIMAS is led by Colonel Ranveer Singh Jamwal, a veteran of more than 52 successful expeditions and the only Indian to have summited Mount Everest three times and completed the Seven Summits, reaching the highest points of the seven continents. The 'Har Shikhar Tiranga' is a campaign under the aegis of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, aiming to take the Tiranga (Indian flag) to all the states of the country and hoist it on the zenith of the summits to mark the 75th year of India's independence and commemorate our country's G20 presidency.

However, the journey has not been easy right from the beginning. The team summited Mt Gorichin (6,488 meters) in Arunachal Pradesh in October, and by December, they had reached the highest point of each of the seven states in the Northeast. This success was a test set by Colonel (Col) Ranveer Singh Jamwal, the Director of NIMAS, to gauge the team's determination before proceeding with the Har Shikhar Tiranga (HST) expedition.

The expedition is officially scheduled to be completed by October 15 this year, allowing for contingencies related to terrain, weather, and other unpredictable factors. This expedition has a long-term aim as it aims to give people from each state a reason to be proud of these highest points and generate interest, particularly among the youth, to visit or summit these points at least once, thereby stimulating the tourism potential as well, said Col Jamwal (52), who is the brainchild of the expedition.

New rice variety likely to transform crop production in eastern India

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @New Delhi

A new paddy variety that developed from two Philippines varieties will transform the crop production in Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Odisha. The rice productivity in these states has reached stagnated. Indian agricultural scientists at Benaras Hindu University (BHU), in collaboration with the International Rice Research Institute (IRRI) Philippines, developed a new rice variety Malviya Manila Sinchit Dhan-1.

This variant's productivity is higher than other conventional varieties. Moreover, it ripens early and resists wind due to stronger stems, and skirts drought. "According to Indian Council of Agriculture Research assessments this variety's productivity is around 55-64 quintal per hectare, which is twice the average productivity in India," says Dr Sarvan Kumar Singh, lead scientist at the BHU who developed the variety, told this newspaper.

India's average production of rice is around 29 quintals per hectare. The other scientists associated with the effort are Dr Jaya Sudha, Dr Dhirendra Kumar Singh, Dr Akansha Singh from BHU, and Dr Arvind Kumar and Vikas Kumar from IRRI. Scientists used two IR-series rice varieties, indigenous to the Philippines, to develop Malviya Manila Sinchit Dhan-1 (MMSD). One of the varieties of the IR-series was IR-8, which was considered 'miracle rice' in the 1970s and helped increase global food production to counter hunger.

"The MMSD variety will revolutionise the Indian rice field, at least in eastern Indian states like Bihar, UP and Odisha," says Dr Sarvan. According to ICAR assessment, MMSD has an encouraging response in Bihar, UP and Odisha. The production of grains was higher than 10% in these states compared to other states. This variety takes 115 days to ripen, and grain quality is better than the existing variety, which would help fetch higher prices to growers.

"During the de-husking, hulling, and milling process, the head rice (whole rice) recovery percentage is 63.5%, whereas conventional rice gets broken more and reduces the market value," says Sarvan Kumar.

Decimated in polls, Guj Cong begins to overhaul state unit

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

After scoring a dismal 17 out of 182 in the last year's Assembly polls, the Gujarat Congress has started looking for a new state president and a new state in charge.

The state unit is running a 'Jan Manch' campaign in a bid to get back the old vote bank ahead of the 2024 Lok Sabha elections.

"The big victory in Karnataka has filled the Congress with new energy. As a first step, the party wants to strengthen the organizational setups in all states, especially where the party is the main opposition," said a senior party leader.

"Gujarat is the most difficult state for the Congress because Prime Minister Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah belong to the state. The party could soon clarify its position on the state president and state in charge in Gujarat, allowing preparations for 2024," said the party leader.

Insiders say the party was unable to decide whether to oust or keep the existing state president Jagdish Thakor. Two possibilities have been discussed: the 2024 Lok Sabha polls may be contested under the leadership of the current state president Thackor, with only state in-charge Raghu Sharma being replaced.

The second possibility is the party hand over the responsibility to another leader next month.

For the state party president post, four names stand out with Deepak Babria being projected prominently. Former leader of the Opposition and Patidar politician Paresh Dhanani is reportedly number two. The third alternative is Seva Dal national president Lalji Desai and the fourth is Rajya Sabha MP Shakti Sinh Gohil.

Gujarat Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi told TNIE that while the results of the Assembly results fell too short of the party's expectations, a study is currently underway to determine if the party leadership should be changed or not.

"The final decision lies with the national leadership that will make the appropriate decision at the appropriate time," Doshi said.

Modi to mark 9 yrs of rule with Bihar visit

BJP will have to make extra efforts after parting of ways with Nitish Kumar's JD(U) last year

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

A year ahead of the Lok Sabha elections, the BJP seems on its mark. The party has planned four rallies in Bihar with Prime Minister Modi being expected to visit the state to mark the completion of nine years of the party rule at the Centre.

The proposed rallies are seen as part of the BJP's strategy to consolidate and expand its support base in the state ahead of the 2024 elections.

Bihar has 40 Lok Sabha seats. Of them, 39 were held by the NDA when Nitish was part of it. Aware of its challenges in the backdrop of Nitish Kumar's JD (U) snapping its ties with it in August last year, the party wants to take the lead in the poll preparations for an effective battle against the Grand Alliance, a conglomerate of seven parties including RJD, JD (U), Congress and Left parties.

The party recently admitted a few Opposition leaders, yet it has not many dependable allies.

The BJP has also planned a month-long mass contact programme in which several senior party leaders will participate. The party's top leadership has identified eight seats from where they have to focus during preparations for elections.

"The list of those Lok Sabha constituencies was submitted by the state unit of the party," said a party office-bearer.

The party has already prepared a roadmap for its massive mass contact programme. Under it, senior BJP leaders will hold discussions with workers at the assembly constituency level on June 7 and 8. It will also hold joint meetings of the party's various cells on June 12, 13 and 14. Similarly, a 'Labhaarthi Sammelan'' (beneficiaries' conferences) are proposed between June 15 and 20.

The party is also expected to observe International Yoga Day in Bihar on June 21.

Party leaders will also meet social media influencers at the Lok Sabha constituency level to improve the party's reach among the voters.

On Tuesday, a meeting of the working committee was held in Nalanda, which was attended by former Union minister and Nitish's bete noire RCP Singh.

Ajmer to be PM's 4th Raj visit in 5 months

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will also hold a public rally in Ajmer on May 31 to commemorate the completion of 9 years of the BJP government at the Centre. This visit will mark his fourth visit to Rajasthan since the beginning of the election year. In the past five months, PM Modi has already addressed major rallies in Bhilwara, Dausa and Sirohi districts.

Experts suggest that following the BJP's loss in the Karnataka elections, Modi is keen on avoiding any risks in a state like Rajasthan, where there is a strong possibility of the BJP winning the elections due to the tradition of power change in elections every five years. Consequently, the PM's programs are continuously being organised in the state. Political experts are also speculating about the significance of selecting Ajmer for such an important program. They believe that by choosing Ajmer, the BJP aims to target Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot's vulnerable spot. Gehlot recently mentioned in a public meeting during his visit to Ajmer that the Congress has been weak in the district.

Another reason for PM Modi's increased activity in Rajasthan, experts believe, is the presence of several factions within the state BJP, each considering themselves as contenders for the post of Chief Minister. These factional leaders include former Chief Minister Vasundhara Raje, Union Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat, Union Minister Arjun Meghwal, Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla, MP Om Mathur, recently appointed State President CP Joshi, and Leader of Opposition Rajendra Rathore. Among them former Chief Minister Raje is considered as the biggest challenge for the BJP high command.

Hitting Cong's weak spot

Experts believe that by choosing Ajmer, the BJP aims to target Rajasthan CM Ashok Gehlot's vulnerable spot. Gehlot recently mentioned during his visit to Ajmer that the Congress has been weak in the district.

Alumni raise funds for Jadhavpur Univ

Students who graduated from Jadavpur University's civil engineering department in 1997 have raised funds that went into developing a smart seminar room at their alma mater. The alumni have developed seminar room "C-3-10", on the third floor of Prayukti Bhawan, a cost of around ₹16 lakh. Last year, they had bought the department 20 new computers for ₹10 lakh. A total of 85 students from the batch, who had resolved to observe the silver jubilee of their graduation with not only a reunion but also by contributing to their alma mater, have so far raised ₹40 lakh. One of the former students, who contributed, said a classroom has been converted into a seminar room.

Crackdown on illegal firework units on anvil

A recent blast in East Midnapore district claiming 12 lives prompted the state government to ask police and Special Task Force (STF) to crack down on illegal firework factories across the state and scan those functional, with "permission" to ensure whether the units are sources of crude bombs and explosives. The police in the districts have been preparing a database of such illegal fireworks units and will crack down on those very soon. They will also visit those legal units to check for violations," said an official.

KMC to keep tab on illegal construction

Kolkata Municipal Corporation (KMC) Mayor Firhad Hakim said councillors of the civic body will be given a list of buildings in their wards whose construction has been approved by the civic body so they can keep a tab on illegal construction there. Hakim said once the list was available to them, councillors cannot shrug off responsibility if an illegal construction took place in their ward. The building of the KMC will provide the list of buildings approved in a borough—comprising many wards—to the borough person, who will distribute the list among the councilors on wards in that borough. Councillors used to receive a list of buildings that were approved for fresh construction or the addition of floors till about five years ago, however, the practice was discontinued later.

Toxic gases from urea plant made students sick: Report

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

ABOUT two weeks ago, 25 students of private school in Naya Nangal fell ill after a gas leak. Now, Punjab Pollution Control Board (PPCB) in its report has confirmed that the incident happened due to detection of ammonia and chlorine in the ambit air beyond the given standards. It indicates that National Fertilizers Limited (NFL), Punjab Alkalies and Chemicals Limited (PACL) and Flowtech Chemicals (P) Limited are not handling the ammonia and chlorine gas properly.

In its report submitted to the Deputy Commissioner of Rupnagar, PPCB stated that as per the analysis results of the industries, no traces of chlorine or ammonia were found from the sacks of the Industries.

"The sensors installed by the industry to sense the leakage of chlorine gas were randomly checked by the team of PPCB. They were operational then. However, the gas leak indicated that either the sensors were not operational at the time of the incident or they are not installed at the adequate location to detect the leakage. PPCB seeks action against the private firms.

Violence unabated in Manipur as 1 more dies, many houses torched

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

ONE person was killed while another was injured in a fresh violence that erupted in Manipur's Bishenpur district bordering the hill district of Churachandpur on Wednesday.

The miscreants torched some abandoned houses of one community at Tronglaobi village on Tuesday night. When members of the affected community retaliated by burning down the abandoned houses of another community at Gelmol, an adjoining village of Tronglaobi, suspected militants opened fire.

One Toijam Chandramani was hit by a bullet. He succumbed to his injuries on the way to a hospital. The injured is said to be an inmate of a relief camp at Moirang in Bishenpur. Tension flared up in parts of Imphal valley after the incident, prompting the authorities to withdraw the relaxation of curfew from Bishenpur as well as Imphal East and Imphal West districts.

According to reports reaching here, women belonging to the Meitei community briefly blocked an army convoy when it was headed towards Churachandpur on Wednesday. The protestors alleged army and paramilitary forces were not taking any action against the Kuki militants in ceasefire mode despite their alleged involvement in the violence.

Shyamkumar Ayekpak, who is a volunteer of a relief camp set up at the Moirang Multipurpose Higher Secondary School in Bishenpur, told this newspaper the inmates are highly stressed and agitated.

"Their houses have been burned down and the government has not come up with any solution whatsoever so far. They are getting agitated and at one point, it will not be possible to control them. They want to fight," Ayekpak said.

Thousands of displaced Meiteis of Churachandpur and other adjoining villages are lodged at various relief camps in Moirang. They are being fed by civil society organisations and locals.

As C'garh elections draw near, a '13 rewind shows political distrust

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE truth behind the audacious Maoist attack that eliminated the top Chhattisgarh Congress leadership continues to remain an "unresolved" mystery. The incident, dubbed as the nation's biggest political murder, occurred at Jhiram valley in south Bastar, about 350 km from Raipur on May 25, 2013.

So far, four different investigations have been ordered into the Jhiram Maoist attack but what led to the incident, and the facts gathered during the probe isn't known publicly.

Besides the judicial commission constituted by the then Raman Singh government, the Chhattisgarh police had carried out an investigation immediately after lodging an FIR in 2013, which was later handed over to the NIA.

The Congress government after coming to power in 2018 constituted a SIT and demanded the NIA's report be given to it for further inquiry but the NIA, which had already produced a challan in the case before the court, refused to comply.

The process of investigation is yet to be seen as succeeding to unravel the truth or initiating action against the guilty amid the political slugfest between the Congress and the BJP all these years in Chhattisgarh. The Congress govt in 2021 had reconstituted another judicial commission expanding the scope of its inquiry. But the state high court stayed its proceedings.

CM Bhupesh Baghel who claimed to have evidence doesn't trust the NIA that probed into the Maoist ambush. "Should we give evidence to the NIA that didn't even cross-examine the survivors of the Jhiram incident? The NIA went to the high court and the Supreme Court when the state government sought the investigation diary from the agency. So, should we then speak to the NIA that neither accomplishing the probe themselves nor allow us to investigate," asked the CM.

The opposition, however, countered that if the CM has evidence, he then should make it public instead of keeping it hidden.

One of the worst attacks by Maoists

25 May, 13

Congress leaders were on a 'Parivartan Yatra' in the state, with a convoy of 25 vehicles carrying around 200 Congress leaders and workers. They were returning from a meeting organised in Sukma

ATTACK BEGINS

Maoist rebels attacked the convoy in the Jhiram Ghati, Darbha Valley in the Sukma district of Chhattisgarh, eliminating almost the entire state leadership

SURROUNDED

As the vehicles slowed down, around 250 Maoists hiding in the adjoining hill tops opened fire from both sides. The Maoists waited for the security men to run out of ammunition before asking the Congress leaders to surrender

GHASTLY SCENES

It was a horrendous sight. The attack caused 27 deaths, including that of former state minister Mahendra Karma and state Congress chief Nand Kumar Patel. Vidya Charan Shukla, a senior Congress leader, too died. At least 20 cops too died.

India's largest HC building inaugurated in Ranchi

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

The building has two large halls with a seating capacity of 1,200 lawyers | EXPRESS

PRESIDENT Droupadi Murmu inaugurated the country's largest High Court building in Ranchi on Wednesday. Spread over 165 acres of land, the ₹550 crore HC building has 25 air-conditioned court rooms' and two large halls with a seating capacity of 1.200 lawyers along with 540 chambers for them.

The building is also equipped with a 2000 KVA solar power plant which will cater to 60 the per cent of the total power requirement of the entire premises.

The President, while inaugurating the building, asked the Chief Justice of India DY Chandrachud, Minister for Law and Justice Arjun Ram Meghwal and the government to find a way to ensure 'real justice' to the poor who are not getting the same despite a court's order.

"Happiness of a poor litigant who rejoices their victory in a court of law after a long-fought battle is often short-lived as they don't get what was ordered by the court," said the President. They don't even know where to go after that, she added. "I don't know that how it could be done, but I believe that they should get justice in the real sense," said Murmu. "Jayein to kahan jayein (Don't know where to go? They are left helpless, she added.

Murmu said that while working on the ground in Odisha, she used to get lot of complaints from poor people who were facing such problems. She relayed the issue to the concerned people but it was all in vain.

"But now, I will send some of such cases to the Chief Justice of India," said the President. There is a provision of filing contempt cases, but due to the lack of time frame in judicial system, that they already have experienced, are afraid of doing so, she added.

She recalled how while working as a member of family counseling center, she used to revisit those families to ensure whether they actually got benefitted by the counseling provided by them or not. Similar initiatives may be planned to ensure that the poor who get justice from court after prolonged legal battle may not deprive of their justice due to any other reason.

During her speech, the president also advocated for introduction of local languages in the judicial system, stressing that Jharkhand needs it the most due to its linguistic diversity. President lauded Chief Justice of India's initiative of delivering his speech in Hindi saying that other judges also need to follow the suit.

CJI DY Chandrachud, while delivering his speech in Hindi, said that it is their duty to restore faith of the litigants, approaching the courts, in judicial system. "Presumption of innocence is basic principle of judicial system, which needs to be kept prima facie while deciding bail matters," he said.

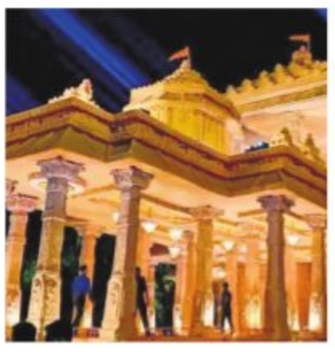
UP pushes ahead with Ayodhya infra as Ram Temple deadline approaches

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

WHILE the work on Ram temple is gathering pace up to meet the deadline of January, 2024, when the sanctum sanctorum is scheduled to be thrown open to the public, the Uttar Pradesh Government, on its part, has accelerated work on improving infrastructure in the temple town to prepare it for the grand opening of the much-awaited temple.

The airport and railway station at Ayodhya are being expanded while work is in progress on Ram Path, the 13-km road from Sahadatganj to Naya Ghat surrounding the Ram Janmabhoomi premises. The outline for the construction of Ram-Janaki Path and Bhakti Path is also ready.

These corridors are significant as they will facilitate the passage of devotees to Shri Ram Janmabhoomi and Hanuman Garhi temple, respectively.



The length of these corridors will be 566 meters and 700 metres.

These corridors to the Ram Janmabhoomi premises would be equipped with all the modern-day facilities.

As per the official spokesman, in its bid to create a 'Navya Ayodhya' to match the international standards in infrastructure, CM Yogi himself is keep a close eye on various projects in the temple town.

As per senior officials, the state government plans to turn the opening ceremony of the sanctum sanctorum into a grand and spectacular event.

The district magistrate is holding regular meetings with shopkeepers and residents to address the challenges emerging from the ongoing construction of roads.

It is noteworthy that Revenue dept teams and PWD engineers conducted door-to-door surveys and established regular dialogue with the shopkeepers while working on the plan for the widening of roads.

Compensation to the shopkeepers was also given after assessing the cost of their properties which were acquired by the government during the road renovation and widening project. Shopkeepers whose property was acquired by the government were rehabilitated and relocated.

WHO slams Russian strikes on Ukrainian healthcare

Resolution demands Moscow to cease all attacks on hospitals in Kyiv

GENEVA

WHO member states voted overwhelmingly on Wednesday to condemn the devastating health impacts triggered by Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

A resolution adopted at the World Health Organization's annual decision-making assembly in Geneva demanded that Moscow immediately cease all attacks on hospitals in Ukraine and voiced concern for wider health impacts in the region.

Member states backed the text by 80 votes to nine, with 52 abstentions.

The assembly voted "to condemn in the strongest terms the Russian Federation's continued aggression against Ukraine, including attacks on health care facilities... as well as widespread attacks on civilians and critical civilian infrastructure."

The resolution was brought forward by Ukraine and 42 other states. All 27 European Union countries co-sponsored the text, except Hungary, which was absent from the vote. The countries voting against the draft resolution included Algeria, Belarus, China, Cuba, North Korea and Syria.

The resolution voiced "serious concerns over the continued health emergency in Ukraine and refugee-receiving and-hosting countries, triggered by the Russian Federation's aggression against Ukraine." These concerns included the "risks of radiological, biological and chemical events and hazards" and the exacerbation of the global food security crisis. The resolution urged Russia to "immediately cease any attacks on hospitals and other health care facilities" and called for unhindered access to people in need of assistance.

The WHO has verified 974 attacks on healthcare in Ukraine since the invasion, resulting in 101 deaths and 136 injuries. Some 873 of those attacks impacted on facilities; 821 involved heavy weapons.

Russia and Syria brought forward a draft resolution of their own concerning the "health emergency in and around Ukraine." It voiced "grave concerns over the ongoing health emergency resulting in conflict-related trauma and injuries" but did not mention Russia in the text. It was rejected by 62 votes to 13, with 61 abstentions.

Ukraine's ambassador Yevheniia Filipenko said the backing for Kyiv's resolution was "a sign of hope for more than 14 million Ukrainians in need of health assistance" and a show of solidarity. AFP

Foiled attack by Kyiv, claims Moscow

Russia said on Wednesday it had fended off a Ukrainian attack on one of its warships in Turkish waters with unmanned vessels. "Today at 5.30 am, the armed forces of Ukraine made an unsuccessful attempt to attack the Ivan Khurs ship of the Black Sea Fleet with three unmanned speedboats," the defence ministry said. It added that the Russian vessel had been tasked with guarding pipeline infrastructure in Turkish economic waters. It said that all three enemy boats have been destroyed.

20,000 men died in Bakhmut battle: Wagner

The head of the Russian private army Wagner says his force lost more than 20,000 men in the drawn-out battle for Bakhmut, with about half of those who died in the eastern Ukrainian city being Russian convicts recruited to fight in the 15-month-old war. Wagner chief Yevgeny Prigozhin also said Russia's invasion goal of "demilitarising" Ukraine has backfired because Kyiv's military has become stronger with the supply of weapons and training by its Western allies.

Israel's Netanyahu passes new budget with sweeping grants for ultra-Orthodox

JERUSALEM

ISRAELI lawmakers passed an annual budget on Wednesday with controversial allocations for ultra-Orthodox Jews, in a concession to a religious party in the governing coalition that drew protests from the opposition.

Thousands of Israelis marched through Jerusalem on Tuesday to demonstrate against the government's plans to hand more cash to the ultra-Orthodox minority, accusing the coalition of "looting" state funds.

The new budget has been criticised for allocating nearly $4 billion in discretionary funds, much of it for ultra-Orthodox and pro-settler parties.

That will include increases in controversial stipends for ultra-Orthodox men to study full time in religious seminaries instead of working or serving in the military, which is compulsory for most secular males.

Israelis protest against a budget proposed by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government in Jerusalem on Tuesday | AP

It also includes more money for ultra-Orthodox schools, which are widely criticised for not teaching students skills like math and English needed in the modern workplace.

The funds also include tens of millions of dollars for hardline pro-settler parties to promote pet projects through the ministries they control.

The grant was part of an agreement with United Torah Judaism, one of the ultra-Orthodox parties in the coalition, to ensure its support for the budget.

The 2023-2024 budget was ultimately passed early Wednesday with the support of all 64 coalition lawmakers in the 120-seat parliament.

Netanyahu and his allies stood and clapped as the outcome of the vote was announced. "We won the elections, we passed the budget, we'll continue for four more years," Netanyahu wrote on Facebook.

The premier spent recent weeks cutting deals with his ultra-Orthodox and extreme-right coalition partners, to meet a May 29 deadline to pass the budget or face fresh elections.

That plan has raised concerns overseas but is now on hold. Now that the budget has passed, however, Netanyahu may face renewed pressure from his allies to bring it back before parliament. Agencies

Bodies of 18 Afghan migrants returned

Kabul: The bodies of 18 Afghan migrants who died while being smuggled into Bulgaria were returned to Kabul on Wednesday, a spokesman for the Taliban government's Foreign Ministry said. Bulgarian officials discovered the bodies in a secret compartment below a load of lumber in the back of a truck left on a highway not far from the capital, Sofia, in February. All 18 had died of suffocation.

Iran names ambassador to Saudi after 7-year gap

Tehran: Iran has named an ambassador to Saudi Arabia, state media reported on Wednesday, sealing a thaw in relations more than seven years after the regional rivals severed ties. The new envoy, Alireza Enayati, previously served as Iran's ambassador to Kuwait, assistant to the foreign minister and director general of Gulf affairs at the foreign ministry, the English-language Iran Daily said.

Brazil's house passes new fiscal rules

Brasilia: Brazil's lower house of Congress has passed new fiscal rules ending the government's spending cap. The Chamber of Deputies passed the so-called fiscal framework bill by a vote of 372 to 108 late Tuesday, clearing the way for the government to ramp up social spending. The new rules would allow spending to increase at 70% the level of increase in government revenues, as a tool to chip away at deficit.

Sunak gives Suella clean chit on driving fine row

LONDON

THE UK interior minister won't face investigation over allegations that she tried to pull strings after getting a speeding ticket, PM Rishi Sunak said.

Sunak said he had consulted his standards adviser over the claims about Home Secretary Suella Braverman and decided her actions didn't breach the code of conduct for government ministers.

But Sunak gently chastised Braverman, saying "a better course of action could have been taken to avoid giving rise to the perception of impropriety."

The case centres on a speeding ticket Braverman got last year, when she was the UK attorney general. The Sunday Times reported that Braverman had asked civil servants to arrange a private speed-awareness session for her, rather than the usual group course for drivers who commit minor offenses. The newspaper said that civil servants refused to get involved. In a letter to Sunak, Braverman said she had made inquiries about doing the driving course in a way that maintained her "security and privacy" as a senior government minister with police protection.

"I recognise how some people have construed this as me seeking to avoid sanction—at no point was that the intention or outcome," Braverman said.

She said she ultimately opted to pay a fine and receive demerit points on her license rather than taking the course. AP

Govt mulling ban on Imran's PTI party: Def Min

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Defence Minister Khawaja Asif on Wednesday said the government is mulling a possible ban on Imran Khan's Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf party following the attacks by his supporters on military installations after Imran's arrest. Talking to the media here, Asif said that Khan was still reluctant to condemn the attacks by his supporters on military and civilian installations. "A decision (to ban PTI) has not been taken yet, but a review is surely underway," he said.

He, however, said that the matter will be referred to the Parliament for approval if the government finally decides to ban the former ruling party.

The minister said that the former premier considered the army as his adversary. "His (Khan's) entire politics was done in the lap of the army and today he has suddenly decided to stand against it," Asif said.

The minister said that Imran's own leaders who had quit the party were saying the same thing. "Whatever I am saying is being said by all the people leaving PTI," he told reporters. "They have said that everything happened with planning. In fact, they were facilitated." He also criticised Imran for not condemning the attacks on the military facilities.

"Till now, he (Imran) has not condemned [the violence] in clear words. He says that he did not know, he was [in custody]. He had his phone, he repeated that this reaction was expected and will happen again if he is arrested," said Asif.

However, PTI leader Barrister Ali Zafar said that the party would challenge the ban in the court as a political party cannot be banned. He told the media that when a ban was imposed on the Jamaat-i-Islami in the 1960s, it was set aside by then-chief justice Alvin Robert Cornelius. PTI

ISLAMIC SCHOLAR RAMADAN ACQUITTED IN SWISS RAPE TRIAL

GENEVA

A Swiss court on Wednesday acquitted Islamic scholar Tariq Ramadan on charges of rape and "sexual constraint," citing lack of material evidence more than a decade after the alleged actions, contradictory witness statements and what resembled love messages to the accused. The court said it would pay Ramadan's lawyers' fees. He was also awarded around $167,000 in compensation from the Swiss canton of Geneva over the case.

Ramadan faces potential trial in France over allegations by several other women that emerged more than five years ago. Ramadan, a Swiss citizen, was jailed in February 2018 in France and handed preliminary rape charges over two alleged assaults in France, one in 2009 and another in 2012. The outspoken scholar has consistently denied any wrongdoing. In the Swiss case, the court noted that it didn't pass judgment on Ramadan's sexual practices or his morality.

A statement said the plaintiff's accusations weren't corroborated by any material elements, including traces of sperm or blood. It also considered the "the numerous internet exchanges" between the Swiss plaintiff and several people implicated in the French case were "of a nature to influence" what she and witnesses told the court. The court said that messages the plaintiff exchanged with Ramadan immediately after the acts in question and for weeks later appear more like "messages of love and, above all, make no mention" of her allegations during a night at a hotel. AP

LIC net profit surges over five-fold to ₹13,428 crore

Sharp rise in earnings mainly because of change in accounting policy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@Mumbai

LIFE INSURANCE CORPORATION OF INDIA (LIC), country's largest insurer, on Wednesday announced a 466% rise in its standalone net profit to ₹13,428 crore for the quarter ending March 2023 compared to ₹2,372 crore a year ago.

Premium income plunged 8.3% year-on-year (YoY) to ₹1.31 lakh crore for the quarted ending March 2023, while the first year premium during the fourth quarter stood at ₹12,811 crore, compared to ₹14,614 crore in the year-ago quarter, a decline of 12%. Net commission during the quarter rose 5% to ₹8,428 crore from ₹7,996 crore in the same quarter in previous fiscal, as per an exchange filing. The Board of Directors have recommended a dividend of ₹3 per share translating to a dividend payout of ₹1,897 crore.

"Our results demonstrate the resilience of our business, built in every nook and corner of the country, over a period of more than six decades. Our efforts towards enhancing the share of non par products in the overall product mix are bearing fruits. With the increase in profit, net VNB margin and IEV we are well positioned to continue our growth journey, in the service of the nation and its citizens," said Siddhartha Mohanty, Chairperson, LIC, in a statement. "The regulatory initiatives towards Insurance for All by 2047 will present opportunities to grow for the sector and we intend to participate in that growth. As we move forward to grow our business further, we will endeavour to create superior value for all our stakeholders," he added.

Net profit for the year ended March 31 was ₹36,397 crore as compared to ₹4,043 crore for the previous financial year. The net profit saw a sharp jump of 466% mainly due to change in accounting policy, under which it has transferred ₹7,299 crore to shareholders' account during the quarter. The Indian embedded value (IEV) of the corporation has grown by 7.53% to ₹5.82 lakh crore as on March 31 ,2023, from ₹5.41 lakh crore in the same period last year. The profit for FY23 comprises an amount of ₹27,241 crore (net of tax), which is pertaining to the accretion on the Available Solvency Margin, transferred from Non Par fund to shareholders account.

KEY FINANCIALS

₹1.31 lakh crore: Net premium income in the quarter ending March 2023

62.58% LIC's market share in First Year Premium Income in last fiscal

7.65 %: Increase in LIC's Asset Under Management (AUM) in last fiscal

₹43.97 lakh crore: LIC's AUM as on March 31, 2023

No timeline yet for resumption of ops: Go First

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

BELEAGUERED airline Go First unlikely to resume operations in the next couple of days, said people familiar with the development. Earlier it was reported that the airline may begin commercial operations from May 27.

"The flight cancellation date will be extended beyond May 26. Though the current airline management has told the pilots to be ready, it hasn't given a date as when they would restart flying," a person familiar with the development told this publication.

He added that, as of now, there is no clarity as who would be pumping money in the airline to support operations and with how many planes the cash-starved airline would resume operations. "It is heard that the airline is in talks with some big investors but so far we haven't heard from the management or appointed resolution professional," the source said.

Aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Wednesday said that they are yet to hear from the low-cost carrier when they would resume operations.

"We have not received anything firm from Go First far. We will be taking a final decision on permissions to the airline after examining all safety protocols," Scindia said on the sidelines of a CII event.

The Wadia group airline has cancelled all flights since May 3, a day after filing for insolvency. In a mail to employees, a GoFirst executive told employees on Wednesday that aviation regulator DGCA will be conducting an audit to check their preparedness in the coming days. "Once approved by the Regulator, we would be soon commencing operations. The Ops team will connect with you for the roster and training program." "The CEO has assured that the salary for the month of April will be credited to your account before the commencement of operations. Furthermore, from the coming month, the salary will be paid in the first week of every month," the mail noted. Go First on Tuesday had told the DGCA it hopes to resume flight operations at the "earliest" but did not have any tentative date by when it plans to do so and with what scale.

'Yet to hear from the airline on resumption of service'

Aviation minister Jyotiraditya Scindia on Wednesday said that they are yet to hear from the low-cost carrier when they would resume operations. GoFirst on Wednesday said DGCA will be conducting an audit to check their preparedness in the coming days.

HC dismisses Vodafone Idea's plea against ₹2K cr penalty

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

TELECOM service provider Vodafone Idea (Vi) might have to pay a penalty of ₹2,000 crore for denying points of interconnect to Reliance Jio Infocomm (RJIO) as the Delhi high court on Wednesday dismissed its appeal against a recommendation by the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI).

As per the reports, a division bench of Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Subramonium Prasad reserved its order on the matter for April 24 after hearing the parties. TRAI recommended a penalty of ₹50 crore for each of the country's 21 circles (excluding Jammu & Kashmir) to be imposed on Bharti Airtel and Vi. TRAI had said that the telcos violated licensing norms by denying adequate points of interconnect to Reliance Jio.

The penalty amounted to ₹1,050 crore for each operator. Additionally, the regulator recommended a penalty of ₹950 crore on Idea for 19 circles. Vodafone and Idea later merged to form Vodafone Idea in 2018. Challenging the penalty, Vodafone filed a petition in the high court alleging a violation of natural justice. Vi argued TRAI had not granted them an opportunity to defend their actions as the show-cause notice didn't indicate the possibility of a penalty recommendation.

BSNL 4G to come in 2 weeks, 5G by year-end: Telecom min

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

STATE-OWNED telecom service provider Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited (BSNL) is set to start its 4G services within next two weeks, and will upgrade to 5G network by the end of this year, telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw announced on Wednesday.

The minister, while speaking at the launch of the 200,000th 5G site in Uttarakhand, stated that BSNL will be installing 200 4G sites per day all over the country. "BSNL has completed the installation of 200 sites, and within two weeks, they will go live. After testing them for three months, the telco will start installing about 200 sites," Vaishnaw said.

He added that after deploying 4G networks, BSNL will quickly upgrade to 5G by the end of the year. "BSNL's 4G stack is upgradeable, meaning that with just a few software updates, the network will be updated to 5G. I believe that by November or December, BSNL will start deploying the 5G network all over the country," said the minister.

While BSNL's competitors, Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel, are launching their 5G networks, BSNL is still offering 3G or 2G services.

The state-owned company's 4G rollout has faced delays because of the government's decision to implement its indigenous technology for the network. Recently, the company has placed an order of ₹15,000 crore with Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) for purchase of 4G equipment. Its CMD PK Purwar said BSNL will cover entire India with its 4G network by the end of 2023. The company will start deploying 4G networks in northern India first and simultaneously it will cover the entire country.

Vaishnaw also mentioned that the US has shown interest in deploying India's indigenously developed 4G and 5G technology.

According to the minister, India is soon going to pilot the deployment of its indigenously developed 5G or 4G stack in the US. "Today, I received a call from a DoT official who informed me about the US interest in our 4G and 5G stack. I instructed the team to expedite the matter and conduct it on a pilot basis," said the minister.

'US shown interest in India's 4G, 5G tech'

Telecom minister said that the US has shown interest in deploying India's indigenously developed 4G and 5G technology. According to the minister, India is soon going to pilot the deployment of the country's indigenously developed 5G or 4G stack in the US

JSW Ventures makes 18x from partial exit in unicorn Purplle

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Bengaluru

JSW Ventures has partly exited its shareholding from ecommerce unicorn Purplle in a secondary sale to Abu Dhabi Investment Authority (ADIA). JSW Ventures first invested in Purplle's Series A round in 2016 from their first fund.

The partial exit in Purplle has generated 18x return on the capital invested, JSW Ventures said. Following this it has returned 2x of the Fund I corpus to their investors.

Manish Taneja, co-founder and CEO of Purplle, said, "We enter FY2023-24 with a significant performance by marquee brands, strong investment trajectory, and aggressively pursuing business growth."

As per reports, the start-up has picked up $50-60 million from ADIA. Purplle became the country's 102nd unicorn last year, backed by investors including ADIA, Kedaara, Premji Invest, Sequoia Capital India, JSW Ventures, Goldman Sachs, Verlinvest, Blume Ventures and Paramark Ventures.

Gaurav Sachdeva, founding partner at JSW Ventures, said, "Their (founders) focus on investing in leadership bandwidth across various verticals is exemplary and sets the template for start-ups, making a transition from an early-stage business to a mature organisation in a capital-constrained environment." With over 1000 listed brands, 60,000 products, and 7 million monthly active users, Purplle expanded in 2022 with over 6000 offline touchpoints and 8 exclusive stores.

Uber's green push: Cab aggregator to bring e-car option from June

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@New Delhi

PLANNING to go all-electric in India by 2040, cab aggregator Uber on Tuesday announced rollout of Uber Green in Delhi, Mumbai and Bengaluru, starting June 2023.

This service, currently present in 100+ cities in 15 countries across the world, allows passengers to request an all-electric vehicle rather than a regular fossil-fuelled car.

To support the services, Uber will deploy 25,000 electric vehicles across Uber's top seven cities via partnerships with Lithium Urban Technologies, Everest Fleet Private Limited and Moove. Uber is also tying up with Zypp Electric to deploy 10,000 electric two-wheelers by 2024. Over 1,000 Zypp Electric two-wheelers are already deployed on Uber Moto in Delhi.

Uber's shift towards EV comes as it faces competition from electric taxi aggregator BluSmart Mobility and long-time competitor Ola. Earlier this year, Uber had inked a memorandum of understanding (MoU) with Tata Motors to introduce around 25,000 XPRES–Tata Motor EVs in the Indian market.

For EV financing, Uber and Small Industries Development Bank of India (SIDBI) have signed an MoU to support the purchase of cleaner fuel vehicles - EV and CNG. The partnership will help provide affordable loans of approximately ₹1,000 crore.

"Going all-electric is a challenge that's bigger than Uber. We can't do it alone. To be successful, the economic burden of making the transition to EVs should not fall on drivers. With these industry leading partnerships, we are matching commitment with action to help drivers go electric faster and supercharge sustainable transition in India's ride sharing industry," said Prabhjeet Singh, President, Uber India and South Asia.

NYKAA Q4 PROFIT PLUNGES 72% TO ₹2.4 CRORE ON HIGH EXPENSES

BENGALURU: FSN E-Commerce Ventures, the parent company of beauty and fashion brand Nykaa, on Wednesday posted a 72% decline in its net profit at ₹2.41 crore for the fourth quarter ending March 31, 2023, compared to ₹8.56 crore in the same quarter last year. The net profit fell due to high expenses. Its revenue from operations stood at ₹1,302 crore, a 34% jump, in the fourth quarter as against ₹973 crore in the year-ago period. Ebitda margin for the quarter stood at 5.4%. In its investor's presentation, the company said it has increased its physical store count to 145 stores across 60 cities. ENS

INDIA CEMENTS NET LOSS WIDENS TO ₹244 CR ON INPUT, OTHER COSTS

NEW DELHI: India Cements on Wednesday reported a widening of its consolidated net loss at ₹243.77 crore for fourth quarter of financial year 2022-23 (Q4FY23), on account of impairment on investments in APGPCL. The company had posted a net loss of ₹26.16 crore during the same quarter a year ago, the company said in a regulatory filing. Revenue from operations rose 4.8% to ₹1,485.73 crore during the period under review as against ₹1,417.62 crore of the corresponding quarter. Total expenses stood at ₹1,637.65 crore, up 12.22%, in the March quarter of FY23 as compared with `1,459.28 crore in the year-ago period. ENS

'Inflation could be lower than 4.7% in May; FY23 GDP growth seen above 7%'

MONIKA YADAV @New Delhi

RESERVE BANK Governor Shaktikanta Das on Wednesday said retail inflation has moderated, and the next print (May inflation) is expected to be lower than 4.7% that was reported in April.

However, he said there is no room for complacency and the war on inflation will continue.

Consumer inflation in April plunged to an 18-month low from 5.66% in the previous month on account of decline in food prices. "The situation is very dynamic and the war against inflation is not over. We have to remain alert, there is no cause for complacency and we have to see how the El Nino factor will play out," Das said.

The Governor exuded confidence in the country's macroeconomic stability on the back of easing inflation, sustainability of gross domestic product (GDP) growth, and manageable current account deficit, record remittances from abroad and fiscal deficit being on consolidation path.

"In the banking sector, gross non-performing assets (GNPAs) at a systematic level was 4.4%...demographic advantage will add to the country's potential output," Das stated at an annual conference of the Confederation of Indian industries (CII).

According to him, the gross domestic product (GDP) could come slightly above 7% in FY23. He added that it would not be a surprise if GDP growth rate surpasses 7% as almost all the high-frequency economic indicators monitored by the central bank showed momentum was sustained in the fourth quarter of the last fiscal.

Meanwhile, for FY24 he said the country would register 6.5% growth despite the lower projection of 5.9% made by the International Monetary Fund (IMF). He said the RBI derives its confidence from agriculture sector, services exports, normal monsoon, robust capital and infra spending.

CD yields ease as liquidity set to rise on ₹2000 note withdrawal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

The withdrawal ₹2,000 notes have eased the yield on Certificates of Deposits (CD) on expectations of rise in the liquidity in the banking system.

The yields on CDs have declined by around 15-20 basis points as banks have already started exchanging and depositing ₹2000 notes. Infusion of liquidity by the Reserve Bank of India via a repo auction has also helped in lowering the yields.

"RBI declared a dividend of ₹87,000 crore compared to the budgeted figure of ₹48,000 crore. There was some disappointment in the market as markets were expecting a figure north of ₹1 lakh crore," said Puneet Pal, head-fixed income, PGIM India Mutual Fund. "The interbank liquidity eased with maturity of government securities and we expect banking liquidity to stay easy till middle of June as the RBI dividend will also come into the system by way of government spending," he added.

RBI injected ₹46,790 crore through a 14-day repo auction on May 19. Experts believe the withdrawal of ₹2,000 notes will bring back ₹3.6 lakh crore to the banking system. The yield on CDs maturing in three months has now eased to around 6.80-6.95% from 7.00-7.20% a week earlier.

Repco Bank crosses business mix of ₹17,500 cr, FY23 profit up 10.15%

Repco Bank, a Government of India Enterprise, functioning under the Ministry of Home Affairs, has announced the financial results for the FY 2022-23. The Managing Director, Smt. R.S. Isabella informed that the Bank performed remarkably well across all business segments. She informed that the total business of the Bank grew by 8% to ₹17,746 crore as of March 31, 2023. The total deposits increased by 7% to ₹9,527 crore and gross advances increased by 9% to ₹8,219 crore. Bank's Profit After Tax (PAT) for the year ending 31st March 2023 stood at ₹67.42 cr. registering a growth of 10.15%. Net worth of the Bank stood at ₹829 cr. as at the end of March 2023. She informed that the Board of Directors proposed to pay dividend of 20 per cent for the Financial Year 2022-23 to the participating Governments and all the eligible shareholders.

India canter past Chinese Taipei 18-0

Defending champions India started their men's Junior Asia Cup hockey campaign on a rousing note witah a thumping 18-0 win over Chinese Taipei on Wednesday. Araijeet Singh Hundal (19th, 19th, 30th, 59th) and Amandeep (38th, 39th, 41st) scored a hat-trick each, while Boby Singh Dhami (10th, 46th) and Aditya Arjun Lalage (37th, 37th) and skipper Uttam Singh (10th, 59th) found the back of the net twice.

Green, Madhwal give Mumbai big win in Eliminator

Franchise's tricky 182 more than enough as Lucknow are blown away by pacer's five-for, face Gujarat on Friday for a place in final

Cameron Green top-scored with 41 off 23 against Lucknow | ASHWIN PRASATH

GOMESH S @ Chennai

A typical Chennai wicket is what Rohit Sharma called the surface when he opted to bat first after winning the toss in the Eliminator against Lucknow Super Giants at the MA Chidambaram Stadium on Wednesday. To an extent it was a surprise. For starters, Mumbai Indians had won only twice while defending in five games this season. Also, it was the same pitch where MI posted an above par score when they played the hosts earlier this month.

However, the way Qualifier 1 progressed on Tuesday and the lack of dew in particular meant Sharma felt they had better odds defending it with their bowling attack. And that decision proved to be a masterstroke as Mumbai comfortably beat their opponents by 81 to advance to the second Qualifier against Gujarat on Friday. With next to no dew, the Mumbai bowlers were always in the game and Akash Madhwal did the star turn, picking up five wickets in a dream spell in the end phase of the match.

Earlier, intent from the Mumbai batters were clear. Go big in the first six overs and then consolidate. Krunal Pandya, in contrast to what Sharma thought of the surface, used four overs of spin in the powerplay but it backfired. Sharma and Ishan Kishan went hard with the bat as MI scored 62/2 in six overs.

Cameron Green and Suryakumar Yadav took over from there, keeping the momentum going. When the duo was batting in the middle, there was a sense of contrast to it. Green, with his hard hands and stiff bat-swing, cut and punched and lofted spinners with no fuss. Krunal was at the receiving end as Green hit the LSG skipper for three fours in an over.

Meanwhile, Yadav did what he does best. He stood tall and guided the bouncer over the ropes with his wrists and hands making a hook look like a scoop. And he did it twice, first off Yash Thakur and then against Mohsin Khan. At the other end, Green pulled Mohsin into the stands to join the party.

Watching the pair, it almost felt like there was an internal contest going on as to who is going to score quicker. They did not spare Ravi Bishnoi as Yadav used the crease to create room and hit the leg-spinner with the spin over extra-cover. He then punched Naveen-ul-Haq off the backfoot through covers, racing to 33 from 19 balls.

However, Naveen was the one bowler who had known what to do and where to bowl on that pitch up until that point. He had varied his pace, put his cutters to use and now, he deceived Yadav with a slower one, as the Mumbai batter was caught by K Gowtham. Two balls later, an off-cutter at 104.9 KPH came back into the Australian to clean up the stumps.

All of a sudden MI were in a spot of bother (105/4 after 11 overs). Tilak Varma, who was joined by Tim David, did not let LSG dictate terms as the south-paw swept Bishnoi over the ropes. The duo negated the next three overs cautiously before Varma swept Naveen into the stands, showing why he is rated highly by Sharma. David then smashed 23 off 12 balls including two fours and a six, taking MI to 182/8.

Lucknow could ill-afford a bad start but that's what happened as the mercurial Kyle Mayers departed early. Resistance from the middle-order, save Marcus Stoinis was in short supply and they eventually folded for 101.

Brief scores: MI 182/8 in 20 ovs (Green 41, Yadav 33; Naveen 4/38) bt LSG 101 in 16.3 ovs (Stoinis 40; Madhwal 5/5).

Dhoni, Gaikwad credit team prep, hardwork for success

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @ Chennai

FOUR-TIME champions, Chennai Super Kings, stormed into the final of the IPL with a 15-run victory over holders Gujarat Titans in Qualifier 1 here on Tuesday.

After the match, skipper MS Dhoni admitted it was a good toss to lose. "IPL is too big to say it's just another final. Used to be 8 top teams, now it's 10. I won't say it's just another final. It's hard work of two months. Everybody has contributed. Yes, the middle-order has not got ample opportunity. Gujarat Titans are a fantastic team and they've chased very well, so the thought was to get them in. But it was a good toss to lose," said MS Dhoni after his side's win.

"If Jaddu (Ravindra Jadeja) gets conditions that help him, he's very difficult to hit. His bowling changed the game. Not to forget his partnership with Moeen (Ali). We try to create an environment and work out what is the strength of a fast bowler. We try to give them confidence and tell them 'please try to explore your bowling'. We try to motivate them as much as possible. Support staff is there. You see the wicket, according to that you keep adjusting the field. I can be a very annoying captain, I keep shifting fielders 2-3 feet. Only request I ask from the fielders is, keep an eye on me. If there's a dropped catch there will be no reaction (from me), just keep an eye on me." added Dhoni complimenting Jadeja.

Ruturaj Gaikwad, who made a match winning 60, insisted that it was lot of hard work and preparation that helped the team play professionally.

> I don't know... I have 8-9 months to decide (on retirement). Why take that headache now. I have ample time to decide. The auction is in December
>
> MS Dhoni, CSK captain

"A lot of effort went into our success. It started from last year when we didn't qualify for the play-offs. Obviously, the management got something to work on and there were things which we needed to improve and put an effort on, or add someone. This year, right from the first game, I think we were clinical and sure about who is going to play and who is not going to play and what will be our probable 12 or 13 or 15," he said.

"When the Sri Lankans came late (Maheesh Theekshana and Matheesha Pathirana), I think they were up to the mark even from the first game. So, I think we were pretty much playing with the same team and just continued the momentum. And hats off to everyone, the support staff and the management as well," added the Maharashtra born player.

Gaikwad believes that the pre-season camp helped the team. "The camp was very vital because a new surface was being laid over in Chennai. Everyone was not sure how the wicket is going to be or how the wicket is going to play. But sometimes when you play on flat tracks, you need not have to think much on your shots and not much about the opposition bowling. Sometimes batsmen play good shots and hats off to him. Even while you're batting, it's about getting into the zone," he signed off.

Sindhu, Srikanth advance to 2nd Rd

KUALA LUMPUR: PV Sindhu had to dig deep to beat Denmark's Line Christophersen in the women's singles opening round and enter the pre-quarterfinals of the Malaysia Masters on Wednesday. Sindhu had to toil for one hour and two minutes to get the better of Christophersen 21-13, 17-21, 21-18 and maintain her superiority over the world No 33. However, it was curtains for qualifier Ashmita Chaliha and Aakarshi Kashyap in the women's singles competition as they suffered straight-game defeats. Among Indian men, Kidambi Srikanth defeated Toma Junior Popov 21-12, 21-16 to enter the singles second round.

India's TT Worlds campaign ends

DURBAN: Manika Batra fought hard before going down to Adriana Diaz of Puerto Rico 3-4 in the round of 32 as India's campaign ended at the World Table Tennis Championships on Wednesday. Manika lost 3-4 (6-11, 12-10, 11-9, 6-11, 13-11, 9-11, 11-3) to book her place in the last 16. A Sharath Kamal and G Sathiyan then lost to the English pair of Paul Drinkhall and Liam Pitchford 3-1 (11-9, 8-11, 12-14, 10-12) to crash out in the round of 16 of the men's doubles. The women's doubles pair of Manika and Archana Kamath also lost in straight games 0-3 to Japan's Hina Hayata and Mima Ito.

India women tour of B'desh likely to begin in first week of July

GOMESH S @ Chennai

THE Indian women's team's tour of Bangladesh, where they will be playing three ODIs and as many T20Is, is likely to begin in the first week of July in Mirpur.

The series, of which the 50-over games will be a part of the 2022-25 ICC Women's ODI Championship cycle, was scheduled to begin in the last week of June as per the Women's FTP released by the ICC. However, it is understood that the series is likely to begin in the first week of July, coinciding with the white-ball leg of the Afghanistan men's tour of Bangladesh.

The Afghanistan men will be playing a Test match in Dhaka in June (14-18) after which they might travel to India for a short series which is yet to be confirmed while the Bangladesh tour breaks for Eid-ul-Adha. They will be back in Bangladesh in the first week of July for the white-ball leg in Chattogram (three ODIs from July 5) and Sylhet (two T20Is). With the India-Bangladesh series coinciding, the timings of the women's matches, especially the T20Is, are yet to be finalised.

The Bangladesh tour will be the women's first international assignment since the 2023 T20 World Cup semifinal defeat against Australia in February. The Harmanpreet Kaur-led Indian team would want to make the most of the tour given that they do not play international matches for at least a few months after the Bangladesh tour. Most of the India senior players, who are under the age of 30, are at the National Cricket Academy, Bengaluru, for a high performance camp at the moment.

Prior to this series, the India A women's team will be flying to Hong Kong for the Women's Emerging Teams Asia Cup which is scheduled to begin on June 12. India are in Group A with Pakistan A, Thailand A and Hong Kong while Bangladesh A, Sri Lanka A, UAE and Malaysia are in Group B. The top two teams from each group will qualify for the semifinals. The India A squad is expected to be announced over the next few days.

WTC FINAL

Shastri bats for Jaddu and Ashwin in XI against Aus

DUBAI: Former head coach Ravi Shastri feels that India should play to their strength and include both R Ashwin and Ravindra Jadeja in the playing eleven against Australia in the World Test Championship final at the Oval, next month. Under Shastri, the Indian team won a Test at the Oval in 2021 but it was largely due to performance of India's pace attack comprising Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Siraj, Umesh Yadav and Shardul Thakur apart from a classy hundred by the then vice-captain Rohit Sharma. Picking his XI, Shastri felt the void left by Bumrah will hurt India's chances and they should counter it by picking another spinner. "You have got horses for courses. But then if the quality is not good in your fast-bowling attack. If you think the guys are older, they are not as quick as they used to be... then you play that second spinner because Ashwin is quality, as is Jadeja," he said in ICC Review.

Warner will play big part in WTC final: Coach McDonald

MELBOURNE: Australia's head coach Andrew McDonald has backed David Warner to "play a really big part" in the upcoming World Test Championship final against India and the Ashes series against traditional rivals England. Warner endured a difficult tour of India earlier this year and even though the Delhi Capitals skipper showed attacking intent while amassing 516 runs from 14 matches in the IPL, he will have his task cut out in the seaming English conditions. Regardless of Warner's recent struggles, McDonald is confident of the seasoned Australian delivering at the top of the order in the UK. "We're optimistic with what Dave's got left, we've picked him in the squad and we feel he'll play a really big part in the Ashes and the World Test Championship (final)," McDonald told Australian radio station SEN.

Finally after months, national camps for wrestlers may begin from July 1

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

IT'S been months since a full-fledged camp was last organised for the senior women wrestlers. Ever since the protest began against the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) and its sidelined chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh in January, they have been forced to train at their respective centres with only short camps being held before international events.

With the Asian Games only a few months away, it has been decided to resume national camps for both men and women wrestlers. The ad-hoc committee, which is managing the day-to-day affairs of the WFI, on Wednesday held a meeting to discuss the annual calendar for training and competition (ACTC) with the Sports Authority of India (SAI). The calendar was approved with the SAI sanctioning camps for wrestlers from July 1.

"Budget of ₹13 crore till Asian Games has been approved. The calendar includes selection trials to pick up the teams for the Asiad. The trials could be held between June 20-25 after which camps will begin," said a source in the know of the development. Adding further, they added: "Only selected wrestlers will be part of the camp. They can, however, give their choices of sparring partners who in turn will be included in the camp for preparations." For freestyle and Greco-Roman men wrestlers, the camp will be held in Sonepat while the women grapplers will camp in Patiala.

"The ACTC also includes the participation of the Indian wrestlers in the fourth and final Ranking Series in Budapest, Hungary. The event is scheduled from July 13 to 16. "Wrestlers will first compete in the 3rd Ranking Series scheduled in Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan from June 1 to 4. They will then compete in the Budapest event. There is a plan that they can also camp in Hungary to prepare for Asiad," said the source. The wrestling competitions in the Asian Games will be held from October 1 to 4.

Meanwhile, the ad-hoc committee is also going to hold trials to select U-15 and U-20 teams for the Asian Championships. The trials will be held from June 5 to 8. The continental event is scheduled in Amman City, Jordan from July 12 to 20. However, it is learnt that the committee wanted to organise nationals to select teams and even mailed state associations requesting them to host events if they are interested. "State units seemingly were not interested. They instead emphasised on holding elections as soon as possible," signed off the source.

The ad-hoc committee that was formed on April 27 was supposed to hold elections, as per sports ministry's letter, within 45 days.

Racial abuse against Vinicius brings arrests & partial closure of stadium

AGENCIES @ Madrid

SPANISH police took action on Tuesday after the latest case of abuse against Vinicius Junior, arresting seven people accused of racially insulting the Real Madrid player. Spanish soccer officials also acted, fining Valencia 45,000 euros ($48,500) and closing part of the team's stadium for the next five games.

Three people were detained in Valencia for alleged abuse against Vinicius in Sunday's match between Valencia and Madrid. Four were arrested in Madrid for allegedly hanging an effigy of the player off a highway bridge in January. The arrests came after an outpouring of support for Vinicius after he said he was abused in Valencia. The case prompted widespread reaction from sports figures and government officials in Spain and worldwide. Valencia will appeal the partial closure of its stadium following the racial abuse directed at Vinicius in a Spanish league match, saying the punishment is "unfair and disproportionate".

The section of Mestalla Stadium that will be closed is where the insults against Vinicius came from, behind one of the goals. It's also where the club's more hardcore fans usually are located. The Spanish federation's competition's committee also made the unusual decision to annul the red card shown to Vinicius after an altercation with Valencia players late in Sunday's match. The committee said video review failed to show the referee the entire altercation, including the part in which Vinicius was grabbed from behind by an opponent. Vinicius had complained that his red card ended up being a reward to the racists who insulted him.

Spain has been criticised for its lack of action in racism cases in soccer. Brazilian government officials, including President Luiz In'cio Lula da Silva, had publicly expressed their concerns. "It's a crucial moment, a moment to take drastic measures," Real Madrid coach Carlo Ancelotti said Tuesday.

"Now that the issue has visibility, the institutions have to take this opportunity to try to fix this problem." All seven were arrested on suspicion of committing a hate crime, police said. None of them were publicly identified, and police did not discuss the timing of the arrests.

Vinicius, who is Black, has been subjected to repeated racist taunts since he arrived in Spain five years ago and especially this season after he began celebrating his goals by dancing. Spanish media said police had used security cameras to identify the perpetrators but no action had been taken until now. Valencia and authorities worked together to identify and detain the suspects in the match against Madrid. The club said it banned the suspects from its stadium for life.

The lights at the Christ the Redeemer statue in Rio de Janeiro were turned off Monday night in a show of solidarity for Vinicius, who did not practice on Tuesday citing a minor injury. "It's an action of solidarity that is moving,' Vinicius said on Twitter. "But more than everything, what I want is to inspire and bring more light to our fight." Vinicius gave thanks for the support he has received.

"I know who you are," he said. "Count on me, because the good ones are the majority and I'm not going to give up. I have a purpose in life, and if I have to keep suffering so that future generations won't have to go through these types of situations, I'm ready and prepared."

Germany gets tough with its climate activists

Raids ordered in investigation targeting 7 members of Last Generation

POLICE

BERLIN: German police on Wednesday raided homes of climate activists known for their controversial street blockade protests that Chancellor Olaf Scholz has blasted as "completely nuts".

The raids were ordered in an investigation targeting seven people aged 22 to 38 of the Last Generation group, as Germany toughened its stance against their eye-catching action. From glueing themselves onto the asphalt to flinging mashed potatoes on paintings in museums or blocking airport runways, the activists have in recent months split public opinion with their protests to push the government to do more for climate change.

Wednesday's raids were ordered over suspicions that the activists were "forming or supporting a criminal organisation", said a joint statement by Bavaria's police and prosecutors. Fifteen properties were searched, two accounts seized and an asset freeze ordered.

The suspects are accused of "organising a donations campaign to finance further criminal acts" for the group via its website. At least $1.5 million had been collected in the campaign, said the authorities, adding that "these funds were according to current information mostly used for the committing of further criminal action of the association".

The authorities did not specify the "criminal action" they were referring to but said two of the suspects are alleged to have tried to sabotage an oil pipeline between Trieste, Italy, and Ingolstadt, Germany, deemed "critical infrastructure" in Bavaria. At a press conference after the raids, the activists said they would not be cowed. Spokeswoman Aimee van Baalen admitted she was terrified when she learnt about the raids targeting her friends.

"They frighten us, but we must not persist in this fear. The government is steering us into a climate hell with our eyes wide open," she said.

"We must continue our resistance," she said, calling a demonstration next Wednesday Dozens of activists from the group have found themselves before courts in recently over traffic blockade actions. Most have received fines for disrupting traffic or obstructing police work but some courts have begun toughening their sentences to also hand down jail time.

Iran to work with international inspectors

ENERGY

DUBAI: The head of Iran's nuclear programme insisted on Wednesday that his government would cooperate with international inspectors on any "new activities." His statement comes after a report about Tehran's new underground tunnel system near a nuclear enrichment facility was published.

The new tunnels near the Natanz facility are likely beyond the range of a last-ditch US weapon designed to destroy such sites. The report sparked wider conversation across the Middle East about the construction, with Israel's national security adviser saying on Tuesday the site would not be immune from attack even if its depth put it out of range of American airstrikes.

Speaking to journalists on Wednesday after a Cabinet meeting, Mohammad Eslami of the Atomic Energy Organization of Iran sought to describe the interest in the site as a case of Israel feeling pressured.

BLAME ON ISRAEL FOR EXPLOSION

Tehran blamed the explosion of above-ground centrifuge manufacturing centre at Natanz on Israel which is long suspected of running sabotage campaigns against its programme.

"The Islamic Republic of Iran is working under the IAEA safeguards, and whenever wants to start new activities, it will coordinate with the IAEA, and acts accordingly," Eslami said, using an acronym for the International Atomic Energy Agency. The IAEA did not respond to questions about the construction at Natanz, about 225 km south of Tehran. Natanz has been a point of international concern since its existence became known two decades ago. Satellite photographs of the piles of dirt from the digging and experts who spoke to reporters suggest the new tunnels will be between 80 metres and 100 metres deep.

Such underground facilities led the US to create the GBU-57 bomb, which can plow through at least 60 meters of earth before detonating, according to the American military. US officials reportedly have discussed using two such bombs in succession to ensure a site is destroyed. It is not clear that such a one-two punch would damage a facility as deep as the one at Natanz. With such bombs potentially off the table, the US and its allies are left with fewer options to target the site. If diplomacy remains stalled as it has for months over Iran's tattered nuclear deal, sabotage attacks may resume. Iran says the new construction will replace an aboveground centrifuge manufacturing centre at Natanz struck by an explosion and fire in July 2020.

MURAKAMI WINS ASTURIAS PRIZE

Japanese novelist Haruki Murakami has won this year's Princess of Asturias Award for literature, the Spanish foundation that organises the prizes said. The Princess of Asturias Award jury praised the "uniqueness" of the Kyoto-born writer's essays, short stories and novels, which have been translated into more than 40 languages and sold millions of copies.

Satellite launch firm Virgin Orbit shuts shop

SPACE

NEW YORK: Virgin Orbit, the satellite launch company founded by British billionaire Richard Branson, announced on Tuesday it is permanently ceasing operations, just months after a major mission failure.

The California-based firm, which had already filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection in the US in early April, auctioned off its main assets, recovering just over $36 million. That is barely 1% of temporary worth it reached in late 2021 on Wall Street, when it was valued at some $3.5 billion.

Announcing it is selling its assets to four winning bidders and then folding, Virgin Orbit thanked its employees and stakeholders and said company will be remembered for its "groundbreaking technologies." "Throughout its history, Virgin Orbit has been at the forefront of innovation and has made substantial contributions to the field of commercial rocket launch," the company said.

Virgin Orbit was created in 2017 by splitting from Virgin Galactic, Branson's space tourism company.

SHADOWS OF A CHEQUERED PAST

Trying to lend a helping hand during the pandemic, Manish Sarkar was wrongfully arrested for extortion, an unjust battle he is still fighting in the public eye to this day

TUNIR BISWAS

MANISH Sarkar (33) is a partner at Mitara Services LLP, alongside his friend Yamini Nagar. And together, they run a cloud kitchen for hostellers and working professionals. Sarkar looks forward to what the future holds despite his past heavily weighing him down.

A Bengalurean since 2014, after moving from Kolkata, he was part of humanitarian organisations like the Art of Living and Bongio Samaj Bengaluru. But on the fateful day of April 28, '21, he was arrested on charges of extortion and his life as a public servant became perennially marred. "I remember realising that my world was shattering when I entered Central Jail. The reality of sharing space with individuals who had committed heinous crimes weighed heavily on my spirit," recalls Sarkar. After a fortnight in prison, the court of the 37th Addl Chief Metropolitan Magistrate dropped all charges against him on May 11, '21. Despite two years since his acquittal, Sarkar continues to battle suspicion in the public eye.

Rewinding and replaying

It is April '21, and the second wave of the pandemic is peaking when a desperate Stephen Raj contacts Sarkar in search of a hospital bed for his Covid-ridden mother. At the time, Sarkar, who was working with NGOs to help with the same, receives a sum of ₹27,000 from Raj on the understanding that if the bed wasn't made available, the money would be returned. A couple of days later, policemen show up at Sarkar's residence and take him to Jayanagar Police Station for an enquiry. Meanwhile, both of Raj's parents succumb to Covid. "The police confiscated my phone upon reaching at 2:30 pm. Around 9:45 pm, the inspector-in-charge interrogated me about others I have cheated. I was dumbfounded. I told him I had no idea what was being insinuated. He then scrolled through my WhatsApp chats and landed on my conversation with Stephen. It contained his name and a screenshot of him paying me the ₹27,000," says Sarkar, adding the chat also contained a conversation where Raj informs of his mother's passing and Sarkar saying he wasn't able to return the money immediately due to a UPI server issue.

The situation then worsened at a rapid pace. The very next day, April 29, he was taken under judicial custody, found guilty of his crimes and incarcerated. While he awaited bail at Bangalore Central Jail, Nagar appointed her family lawyer Saraswati Akshama Nath, an advocate at the Delhi High Court and the Supreme Court. It took unusually long for the bail to come through, but by the time it did, Sarkar's professional name was tarnished. Unfortunately, the news of his acquittal wasn't as widely known as the one of his arrest.

"Upon my release, I stepped back into the world with trepidation and renewed strength. Little did I know that an emotional tornado was in store. Neighbours started talking ill of me, all my accounts were ceased, I was refused loans, and was in deep debt. Many organisations stopped connecting. To this day, I am refused entry to certain places," says Sarkar.

Despite going through emotional turmoil for over two years, Sarkar is grateful for his well-wishers. "Their belief and support reminded me of the power of genuine friendship. I've discovered that love, loyalty, and trust are essential in overcoming the most challenging circumstances. They have stood by me through my toughest moments, reminding me of my worth," concludes Sarkar, the founder of the charitable trust, Asangoham Foundation, which loosely translates to 'I'm not the doer' in Sanskrit.

Since Manish was in jail, I contacted Stephen and sent him the ₹27,000. Over mail, he acknowledged receipt of the amount and said he had no grievances against Manish. It took very long to get Manish bail because of the Covid situation. Unfortunately, people do get implicated in false cases

STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT

Complainant Stephen Raj met Sarkar for the first time when he was summoned to file an FIR against the latter. "On April 29, a policeman called me enquiring about money I had lost due to a hospital bed situation. I told him I didn't want to press charges as the person was to be returning the amount. I had just lost both my parents to Covid and wasn't in the right mental state to deal with it. But the policeman insisted I come to the station and alleged that Manish had tricked others who were also on their way," says Raj.

Upon my release, I stepped back into the world with trepidation and renewed strength. Little did I know that an emotional tornado was in store. Neighbours started talking ill of me, all my accounts were ceased, I was refused loans, and was in deep debt

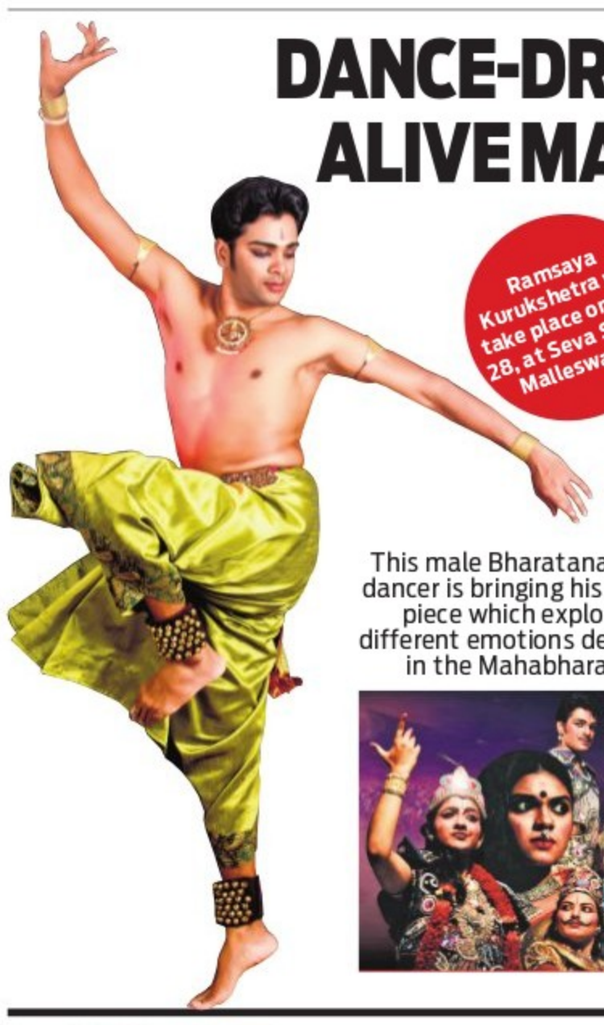
DANCE-DRAMA TO BRING ALIVE MAHABHARATA



Ramsaya Kurukshetra will take place on May 28, at Seva Sadan, Malleswaram

This male Bharatanatyam dancer is bringing his dance piece which explores different emotions depicted in the Mahabharata

EXPRESS FEATURES

EVERY art form has in some way or the other brought out a different perspective on the Mahabharata. On May 28, Bharatanatyam dancer Mithun Shyam is bringing in yet another point of view of this epic war. In the dance musical, Ramsaya Kurukshetra, Shyam explores various human emotions. "Rasmaya Kurukshetra is about the emotions involved in the Kurukshetra War and the futility of it. It brings about a lot of human emotions and finally concludes that war is futile and peace is what is needed," says Shyam.

In one of the segments of the production, a story related to Iravan, one of the sons of Arjuna, is shown. "He is ready to give his life in battle, but wants to get married even before he goes to war. Who would marry a person like that," says Shyam. The show has 18 dancers portraying different characters from the Mahabharata. Apart from Shyam, the rest of the performers are his students from his dance school Vaishnavi Natyashala, which completed 25 years. "When I came towards the Banaswadi area, there wasn't a single dance school. And boys were not learning dance. Ramsaya Kurukshetra is special because a majority of them are male dancers. We need Duryodhana, Dushasana, and Arjuna. My greatest happiness is that I have added 10 male dancers to the dancing community," he says.

Don't settle for temporary fixes like medication and physiotherapy. Try SPMF-Therapy which addresses the root cause of your pain and promote true healing at the cellular level by promoting the regeneration of worn-out cartilage tissue the natural way.

Take the case of M.V. Sowmya who has been the recipient of SPMF-Therapy for osteoarthritis in her knee. "I was not able to sleep due to the excruciating pain but now it has been three months since I took the treatment, and I am able to walk for more than an hour without pain. I am able to do my regular exercises too all thanks to the staff at SBF who are extremely helpful and supportive."

K V Girija Jayaram too echoes similar sentiments. "I was suffering from acute knee pain and was advised surgery, but I decided to go to SBF Healthcare. There was tremendous improvement in the pain and even today after 6 years I feel a lot of relief."

Dr. Nikhil Bharadwaj, Orthopaedic surgeon, vouches for his wife's mother: "My mother-in-law was suffering from severe pain due to OA. Both her knees needed treatment and she tried several other options including physiotherapy, but the results were not effective. We then opted for the three-week treatment at SBF Healthcare, and it yielded positive results. Today, she is pain free and is able to complete all her daily tasks with ease."

SBF knows taking the first step can be daunting, but it urge you to prioritise your health and take action today. Their team will work with you every step of the way, providing support, guidance, and personalised care to help you achieve your goals.

SBF believes that every person deserves to live a pain-free life and the team is committed to making that a reality for you. SPMF-Therapy is absolutely non-invasive, drug-free, pain-free and completely free of side effects.

FIT BIT

EKA PADA DHANURASANA VARIATION
(ONE LEGGED BOW POSE VARIATION)

It is an advanced level variation requiring flexibility of the spine, hip flexors, quads and shoulder joints. It helps to prepare the spine and upper back for a deeper stretch. It is a prone backbend, which works against gravity to lift the chest up.

STEPS
- Lie down on your stomach, placing the gap between your buttocks and keep both hands straight.
- Exhale with the bend of your right knee, bringing your heel as close as your buttocks. And while arched, hold your ankle with your left hand.
- Lift your chest up from the ground while breathing.
- Raise the right leg a little more and try to pull your ankle by your left hand while breathing more.
- Maintain the balance of abdominal weight while pulling the ankle and keep the head absolutely straight, looking front.
- Depending on the flexibility of your body, you can raise it further.
- Pay attention to breathing and exhaling while performing this one-leg arched pose. Make sure that the left leg and right hand are straight on the floor
- Stay in this position for as long as possible.
- Slowly loosen the muscles of the body and bring the buttock and thigh towards the ground.
- Now bring the front part of the body to the ground.
- Then, release the heel with your left hand. Come to the initial state of posture.
- Repeat on the other side. Finally, come to the original position and relax.

BENEFITS
- Improves your digestion and stretches hamstrings.
- Strengthens the stomach, thighs and buttocks muscles.
- It provides physical and mental comfort.
- Beneficial for relieving joint and back pain.
- It is useful for increasing flexibility.
- Increases the respiratory capacity of the lungs.
- Good exercise for respiratory diseases such as asthma.
- You can perceive an energizing feel in your vertebrae.
- Sinusitis or mucus or phlegm in the respiratory tract, gets cleared.
- The internal organs are massaged and obesity is removed.
- Improves liver and kidney function.
- It keeps the body's stomach, liver, kidneys, pancreatic, etc. healthy.
- Helps to get relief from facial problems and body pain.

LIMITATIONS
Beginners, remember not to go beyond your limits.

People suffering from hernia, ulcers, colitis, any stomach disease, and pregnant women, should avoid this.

Find out how new mothers manage postpartum chills after childbirth

DR MEENA MUTHIAH

Postpartum chills are intense shivering (shaking) reactions, which tend to happen to new mothers right after childbirth. It can happen in both vaginal delivery as well as a Caesarean section. In most instances, postpartum chills are a common and harmless occurrence phenomenon and hence, do not mean anything wrong.

Causes

The causes of postpartum chills are usually related to fluid loss, especially blood loss, that occurs during delivery. The human body does a great job by increasing almost more than 50 per cent blood volume to cope the blood loss during delivery. Even though the body is prepared to cope with it, the amount of blood loss is twice, and blood and fluid loss cause the warmth in the body temperature to be dropped, which leads to shivering sensations. It could be related to the hormonal changes in the body, which regulate after delivery, towards the end of labour, or after hard labour, the temperature changes in the body, and the mother may experience shivering.

Do all women experience postpartum chills?

Postpartum chills are more common in women who have thyroid imbalance or low iron (anemia). Not all women develop postpartum chills, only about 32 per cent of women experience this phenomenon which doesn't longer last longer usually. It lasts only for about a couple of hours after delivery. It is a concern and requires immediate medical intervention if it lasts longer, if the shivering is more intense, if somebody's having pain in the bones, or if the patient gets flu which is suggestive of a possible infection. In addition, when the temperature is more than a hundred degrees Fahrenheit, then we have to look for any underlying infection.

How can new mothers manage these chills?

Postpartum chills can be easily managed by keeping new mothers warm, meaning by providing extra blankets, layering her up, giving her hot fluids to drink, such as hot coffee or tea, and keeping the room temperature high. New mothers can also be provided with personal heaters to keep themselves warm. Sometimes, if it happens during a Caesarean section, it could be related to the medication used during anaesthesia. In this case, the anesthetist will administer drugs accordingly to keep the mother warm and safe.

BUST STRESS TO BE YOUR BEST

Correction in food habits and adopting healthy practices are the only way ahead

ANGELINA ROSE J

IN this rapidly changing world, people are engrossed in their busy lives and have no time to concentrate on a healthy lifestyle. This often leads to mental and physical side effects such as stress, depression, anxiety, headaches, cardiac and respiratory issues, etc. "The issue of stress eating has risen significantly in the past few years. People working during night shifts are more prone to it," says Dr Umashakthy DM, a dietician at Dr Mohan's Diabetes Specialities Centre. To battle this issue, she points out that eating supplementary nutritious foods can help avoid stress eating and its consequences.

Causes of stress eating

- People who are going through negative emotions tend to consume foods without control as a coping mechanism.
- High stress affects serotonin levels which could lead to cravings for food with high fat or sugar content.
- High anxiety levels also lead to craving food.
- Lack of physical activity triggers boredom, leading to unhealthy eating habits.

Side effects of stress eating

- People tend to eat more than what they intend and lack portion control.
- People tend to consume more amounts of food while watching television or using smartphones which further leads to the issue of obesity.
- More prone to non-communicable diseases such as Type 2 diabetes, hypertension, chronic respiratory diseases, and other cardiovascular diseases.

Supplementary nutritious food to eat when stressed

- Healthy snacks such as apples, bananas, grapes, oranges, guavas, and nuts.
- Fresh juices, rich in vitamins and iron.
- Foods rich in antioxidants such as pumpkin seeds, green tea, chamomile tea, eggs, etc.
- Popcorn and sweet corn without butter.

Tips to relieve stress without overeating

- Control the portion intake.
- Maintain a food diary to track how much you have eaten per day and follow the same pattern daily for a healthy lifestyle.
- Practice breathing exercises, meditation, and yoga daily to manage stress.
- Pay attention to your weight and eat healthily accordingly.
- Avoid eating food while watching television or when preoccupied with other work.
- Avoid coffee and sweet items as they can worsen symptoms of anxiety.
- Adhere to a strategy to maintain a healthy lifestyle with the right dietary habits and not relapse into poor food habits.
- Reach out to a trained professional or medical practitioner if in need of aid.

70% parents believe image editing apps affect kid's body image

Nearly 7 in 10 parents believe that the wave of new image editing apps and filters along with trends related to appearance are affecting their children's body image, according to a report. It showed that 69 per cent of parents of children younger than 18 think social media image editing apps and filters have a negative influence on their child(ren)'s body image. In addition, 65 per cent of parents agree that social media trends related to appearance – like diet or exercise – have a negative influence on their child(ren)'s body image. "It's important to talk to kids about food and their bodies," said Dr Erin McTiernan, paediatric psychologist at the Nationwide Children's Hospital in the US. She advised parents to pay attention to the content children are consuming on social media and how it's impacting them. –IANS

Looking at pictures of food may help curb overeating

While images of food are known to influence binge eating, it can also trick the brain into feeling full, if we see pictures of the same product repeatedly, according to a study. Researchers from Aarhus University in Denmark carried out a number of experiments which revealed that we can get a sense of satiety if we see the same image more than 30 times, which may help us curb overeating. "The participants who were shown the picture many times also chose a smaller portion than those who had only seen the picture three times, when we subsequently asked about the size of the portion they wanted," Tjark Andersen, from the Department of Food Science at Aarhus. It may sound strange that the participants felt full without actually eating anything. But this is really quite natural, explained Andersen. –IANS

SHIVARAJKUMAR-NARTHAN'S BAIRATHI RANAGAL TO BE LAUNCHED ON MAY 26

The filming of this multilingual project, the prequel to the blockbuster Mufti, will begin on June 10

A SHARADHAA

THE news of Shivarajkumar and Narthan collaborating on a project has been in the news for some time now. We had also reported that the film will be made under Geetha Pictures, and will be a multilingual project titled Bhairathi Ranagal. The film, which is a sequel to their previous collaboration, Mufti (2017), is set to be officially launched on May 26 with a grand muhurath.

The sequel is named after the character played by Shivarajkumar, and will focus on the origin story of Bhairathi Rangal. The prequel will also bring back Devaraj, Madhu Guruswamy, Vasishta Simha, and Babu Hirannaiah to reprise their roles from Mufti.

Music director Ravi Basrur and cinematographer Naveen Kumar, who had previously worked in Mufti, will be joining hands with Narthan for his second outing.

Director Narthan

Shivarajkumar, one of the busiest actors in Sandalwood, is currently wrapping up the shoot for Ghost, directed by Srini, and he is set to begin shooting for Bhairathi Ranagal on June 10. The actor also has Karataka Dhamanaka directed by Yogaraj Bhat, and debutant director Arjun Janya's 45. His other projects include Jailer with Rajinikanth, and Captain Miller with Dhanush, which are at different stages of production. Shivanna also recently announced his collaboration with Telugu superstar Balakrishna for a project.

An official confirmation comes from producer Kalaippuli Thanu, who expressed his happiness to collaborate with the pan-India actor

Kichcha Sudeep's update on his 46th film leaves fans thrilled

CE FEATURES

FANS of Kichcha Sudeep finally have a reason to cheer as the pan-Indian actor, who had been tight-lipped about his next project after Vikrant Rona, has finally provided an update on his 46th film.

The official confirmation comes from producer Kalaippuli S Thanu, known for producing Kabali and Asuran. The film will be made under V Creations and is tentatively titled Kiccha 46. "We are proud and happy to work with Baadshah Kichcha Sudeep. Stay tuned for updates," Thanu posted on his official social media account.

In anticipation of the announcement, the team has released a glimpse of the video teaser featuring Sudeep entering a caravan and preparing for a photoshoot. A line in the teaser reads, "Stepping into the new world of..." followed by question marks, which has further heightened curiosity among fans. As previously reported by Cinema Express, Sudeep's project is likely to be helmed by debutant director Vijay, and it is expected to be a Kannada-Tamil bilingual film, and touted to be a thriller. Art director Shivakumar will join Sudeep for the upcoming project after Vikrant Rona. More details are awaited, which will be out in the next few days.

CE FEATURES

HONDISI Bareyiri, an engaging tale of friends, directed by Ramenahalli Jagannath, was released on February 10 and emerged successful at the box office. However, this youthful entertainer gained even more popularity when it premiered on Amazon Prime Video on April 1. With the captivating storyline, despite the IPL cricket season, and Karnataka elections, the film garnered an impressive viewership of 50 million minutes, marking a remarkable achievement.

Expressing his elation, Jagannath said, "The script's ability to evoke emotions resonated with the audience. I had director Prem, actors Rakshitha, and Srinagar Kitty reaching out to me with words of appreciation, and discussing the film's powerful emotional quotient."

This overwhelming response has fueled the director's contemplation of a sequel. However, he intends to pursue the sequel after fulfilling his current commitments. "I have a couple of producers approaching me and I'm at present developing a script centered around travel while also working on another story. Once I complete one of these projects, I will devote time to strategise the sequel for Hondisi Bareyiri," he says.

Hondisi Bareyiri boasts an exceptional ensemble cast, including Shri, Naveen Shankar, Praveen Tej, Anirudh Acharya, Aishani Shetty, Archana Jois, and others. Shetty, Archana Jois, and others.

'Embracing every craft has helped me enhance my directorial skills'

CE FEATURES

RAJA Venkaiah, an experienced professional with two decades in the industry, is all set to make his directorial debut with Siren. The film serves as the launch pad for Praveer Shetty and is all set to hit the theatres on May 26. Having worked alongside renowned filmmakers like Abavanan and Murugudoss, Raja now fulfills his long-time aspiration of stepping into the role of a feature film director. Reflecting on his journey, he shares, "It was somewhat accidental, but it was producer Prakash Palani who gave me the opportunity to step behind the camera. While I was in Bengaluru discussing a script, I happened to come across Praveer Shetty, who was about to embark on his acting career. That's when I decided to make Siren in both Kannada and Tamil."

Venkaiah reveals that he initially began his career as an editor and was a versatile multitasker in the industry. He has an impressive track record of editing around 10,000 episodes, working on approximately 350 commercials, handling cinematography for five films, serving as a sound engineer, and contributing as a dubbing artist for over 100 films. "I am happy to acquire extensive experience in various facets of filmmaking. Additionally, I served as the DOP for 150 musical shows, accompanying maestros like Illayaraja and Yuva Shankar Raja, which I consider an accomplishment. Embracing each department of the film industry has provided me with invaluable expertise and has enhanced my directorial skills," he says.

When asked about the reasons to watch Siren, the director says, "First and foremost, it is an entertaining film. It also addresses the issue of women's safety. Based on an incident in Andhra Pradesh, the story is delicately woven to respect the sentiments of the victim and her parents. The film's production quality is commendable, and such stories have been rare in recent Kannada cinema. With the protagonist portrayed as an IPS officer, Siren promises a gripping narrative filled with twists and turns."

Produced by Biju Shivanand under the banner of Deccan King Production, Siren boasts a noted cast including Pavithra Lokesh, Achyuth Kumar, Sharath Lohitashwa, and Sparsha Rekha. Introducing a unique concept, the film features Ponnu Ashi as one of the leads, accompanying the male protagonist throughout the journey. The cinematography is handled by Nagesh Acharya, while Bharadwaj, known for scoring music in My Autograph starring Sudeep, has composed the music for Siren.

AGRA, BUT NOT QUITE ABOUT TAJ

NAMRATA JOSHI

IT'S the second time for Kanu Behl at Cannes. His directorial debut, Titli, about the youngest son in a patriarchal family trying to find his way out from suffocation to freedom, played in the official Un Certain Regard section in the 2014 Cannes Film Festival.

His second feature film, Agra, about a sexually repressed young man, plays this year at Cannes in the parallel Directors' Fortnight section. On the eve of the film's premiere, on May 24, Cinema Express spoke to the filmmaker.

I begin with the obvious. How did the idea of Agra come about?

After I had finished Titli, I was wondering what it was that I wanted to speak about next, what was I deeply feeling for. It was the sexual repression I had felt, and it wasn't just about my own journey, but I had seen it around me in young boys.

The moments of sexual acts are so personal and visceral that they are not really talked about. The myriad forms of desire that you experience as soon as you connect on that intimate level. Those moments are the peak moments of truth with another person.

While researching on the subject I also got drawn to one thing specific about our country: we are such a big population. So many people are crunched into a little space.

It was about sexuality at its most personal, human level and combining the inward gaze with the larger socio-political-cultural-structural look at how our sexuality affects and gets affected by the spaces we live in.

Both your films have engaged with the idea of space... The underbelly of the city, the outliers living there, the Delhi and Agra that cinema doesn't usually venture into. Also, the way you have designed the two significant settings—the house and the internet cafe...

When we were thinking of the visual design, we all figured we will look at the phallic symbology. [So], the house is like a tall tower. The idea was to look at [the protagonist] Guru empathetically. There is so much sexual repression in the house. The father living with his mistress upstairs. Guru living with his mother downstairs. He is trying to talk about the turmoil in his own way. He may not have the vocabulary for it but is the only one to have the courage to speak about it. We were trying to get into the textures of such intimacy, the inner entrails of desire. Similarly, I had a specific design in mind for the internet café. It took the longest to find out. It's like a long, narrow passage. It was made from scratch in a hole in the wall in a busy market. We were trying to hit the psychological symbols everywhere, as much as possible.

Kanu Behl

You are locating sexual repression in a very patriarchal construct. Patriarchy is something you engaged with in Titli as well...

Agra is a piece about sexuality seen through the lens of patriarchy because that is our reality. But it's very different from Titli. Agra is about a fading patriarch whereas Titli begins with power to end with a loss of it. The journey in Agra starts where Titli ends. They are different journeys, but we live in the same socio-economic-political context.

But Guru is a product of what patriarchy expects of men...

Absolutely. You are who you are in the larger context of the society you live in. But the responsibility for his repression lies in a way also with the women, the mother, and the mistress as much as the father. Yes, there is a patriarchal construct, but my idea was to treat all the characters as complex human beings who are trying to deal with the structure in their own way.

The film took a while after Titli...

It took me a while to gather the courage to write the film. I knew it would be difficult to find the right kind of support for this film in India. For a while, I was tiptoeing around what I wanted to write. But I got lucky. I was in the Three Years Residency with Molly Malene Stensgaard, editor of Lars von Trier, as my mentor. I worked with her on the script and got clarity in the fifth or sixth draft. She asked me why I wanted to make the film, and I told her that it was to talk about repression. Then why are you not talking about, she said. She told me to make it only if I was ready to do it. It was there that I got convinced that the film needed to be made and there was a need to have a conversation about it.

We got the Cinema du monde funding which was about 40 per cent of what we needed and then we found collaborators in Sa Re Ga Ma and Yoodlee Films. Getting the right collaborators to make the film in the way it needed to be made was quite a journey itself.
